Objective

Team KLEF-CEA organized an event called "Mobile Addiction" at Z.P. High School, Pedda Konduru village, with the main objective of creating awareness about mobile addiction among students. Mobile addiction is a disorder characterized by compulsive overuse of mobile devices, often measured by the frequency of device access and total online time. 2:15 PM. Upon arrival, we divided into teams and began discussing the drawbacks of excessive mobile phone usage, highlighting the negative impacts it can have on various aspects of life. We also shared five practical tips on how to break free from mobile addiction.

Description

Throughout the event, the students asked thought-provoking questions, which displayed their eagerness to gain knowledge and improve themselves. We encouraged their curiosity by providing detailed answers and fostering a positive learning environment.

Mobile addiction is a growing concern characterized by excessive and compulsive use of mobile devices.

It can lead to detrimental effects on various aspects of life, including social relationships, academic performance, and mental well-being.

Individuals addicted to their mobile phones often experience difficulty in controlling their usage and may prioritize their devices over other responsibilities and activities.

Symptoms of mobile addiction can include constant checking of notifications, anxiety when separated from the device, and neglecting real-life interactions.

Raising awareness about mobile addiction and promoting healthy digital habits are crucial steps towards mitigating its negative impact on individuals and society.

Proceedings of the Event:

The session was successful, and the students responded positively to the information shared. They actively participated in the interaction session, expressing their thoughts and concerns regarding mobile addiction. During the event, the students posed relevant questions, indicating their desire to understand the subject better and seek guidance on overcoming mobile addiction. We addressed their queries, providing them with valuable insights and strategies to manage their mobile phone usage more effectively.

Overall, the event concluded on a positive note, with the participants showing receptiveness to the information shared. We believe that we were successful in creating awareness about the consequences of mobile addiction and equipping the students with practical tools to overcome it.

Outcome

We are pleased with the outcome of the event and the impact it had on the students. By promoting awareness and providing guidance, we hope to empower them to make healthier choices regarding their mobile phone usage.

The success of the event would not have been possible without the support and cooperation of the school authorities, teachers, and the enthusiastic participation of the students. We extend our gratitude to everyone involved for making this event meaningful and impactful.
