A report on “ENGINEERS DAY” 15/09/2025 at KLEF

Details of the Event:

Date of the Event	:	15-09-2025
Name of the Event	:	Engineers Day
No. of Hours	:	09:30 AM To 11: 30 AM
Venue of the Event	:	KLEF
No. of Participants	:	Students: 83, Faculty: 45

Description of the Event:

KLEF-CEA, in association with the Hobby Clubs, organised “Engineers Day” on 15th September 2025 at KLEF to commemorate the birth anniversary of Bharat Ratna Sir M. Visvesvaraya and to honour the invaluable contributions of engineers to society. The event featured a series of activities, including technical exhibitions, innovative project displays, guest lectures, and interactive sessions that encouraged students to showcase their creativity and problem-solving skills. Faculty members and students actively participated, making the celebration both educational and inspiring, while reinforcing the importance of engineering in driving progress and innovation.

Objectives:

Objectives of "Engineers Day" organised by KLEF-CEA in association with Hobby Clubs:

-  To commemorate the birth anniversary of Sir M. Visvesvaraya and recognize his contributions to engineering and nation-building.
-  To inspire students to uphold engineering values of innovation, creativity, and problem-solving.
-  To provide a platform for students to showcase their technical skills, projects, and innovative ideas.
-  To encourage collaborative learning through hobby clubs and foster interdisciplinary knowledge exchange.
-  To highlight the role of engineers in addressing societal challenges and driving sustainable development.

Outcome:

The “Engineers Day” celebration at KLEF, organised by CEA in association with the Hobby Clubs, resulted in active student participation, showcasing their innovative projects, technical skills, and creative ideas. The event created an engaging platform for knowledge sharing, teamwork, and problem-solving, while also motivating students to think beyond academics and apply engineering concepts to real-life challenges. The sessions and exhibitions not only enhanced technical exposure but also instilled a sense of pride and responsibility among budding engineers to contribute meaningfully to society and the nation's development.

Impact of the Society:

The celebration of "Engineers Day" at KLEF created a positive impact on society by emphasizing the vital role of engineers in nation-building and sustainable development. Through exhibitions, innovative project demonstrations, and knowledge-sharing sessions, the event highlighted practical solutions to real-world problems, inspiring young minds to work towards societal progress. By fostering creativity, collaboration, and social responsibility among students, the programme reinforced the idea that engineering is not just about technology but also about serving humanity and contributing to the overall well-being of the community.
