Brief Overview:

Youth Red Cross (YRC) & National Service Scheme (NSS), KLEF -are conducted a Blood donation Camp.

Venue: SAC Hall (R&D Block ground floor)-Students, Faculty, Scholars participated voluntarily.

The University organized a Blood Donation Camp as part of its commitment to social responsibility and community service. The event aimed to create awareness about the importance of voluntary blood donation and to encourage students, faculty members, and staff to actively contribute to saving lives. Through this initiative, the institution sought to nurture a sense of compassion, empathy, and civic responsibility among the university community.

The camp was conducted in collaboration with a certified medical team and healthcare professionals who ensured that all safety protocols and medical guidelines were followed during the donation process. Prior to the donation, participants underwent basic health screening to ensure eligibility and safe participation. Informative sessions were also organized to educate volunteers about the significance of blood donation, the need for maintaining adequate blood banks, and how regular blood donation supports healthcare systems during emergencies and medical treatments.

A large number of students, faculty members, and administrative staff enthusiastically participated in the camp, demonstrating their willingness to contribute to society. The event served as an opportunity to motivate students to engage in humanitarian activities and to understand their role as responsible citizens in supporting community welfare.

The Blood Donation Camp not only helped in collecting valuable blood units for patients in need but also inspired students to become socially conscious individuals who actively contribute to societal well-being. Such initiatives reflect the University's dedication to holistic education by fostering not only academic excellence but also ethical values, social awareness, and a spirit of service among its students and staff.

Objectives:

- To promote community engagement and social responsibility among students
- To organize extension and outreach activities for societal welfare
- To provide students with opportunities to serve vulnerable sections of society
- To inculcate empathy, compassion, and ethical values
- To strengthen the institution's connection with the community
