ORIENTATION OF ANTI-RAGGING REPORT

College life is very important in every body's life because it not only determines the future of a person but also is a time when most students understand the realities of life. But it has been observed that students do not enjoy their campus life till the end of freshman year. This is because of ragging. Ragging is any disorderly conduct, whether by words spoken or written, or by an act which has the effect of teasing, treating or handling with rudeness any student, indulging in rowdy or undisciplined activities which cause or are likely to cause annoyance, hardship or psychological harm or to raise fear or apprehension thereof in a fresher or a junior student and which has the effect of causing or generating a sense of shame or embarrassment so as to adversely affect the psyche of a fresher or a junior student. The above meaning was given by Supreme Court of India highlighting the seriousness of issue. Ragging which starts as fun for one group of students may have a far reaching influences on the other group of students, family and the Institution itself. The consequences may end up in death

Henceforth ,in order to create awareness among students we came up with Anti Ragging Event ,telling it's consequences ,punishments of found guilty and what exactly does ragging mean and it should not be in a way to hurt any other's feeling by any means. Stating from UGC Regulations, Legislations on Ragging and Central Legislations the idea was to give a complete picture of WHY RAGGING SHOULD NOT BE CURBED.

The above points are discussed by Mr.B. Madhusudhan Rao, Retd. DSP,Guntur. He discussed the disadvantages of ragging, sections, rules and regulations. He motivated students in such a way that no student gets himself in ragging.

Our whole idea to bring this event was to "SAY NO TO RAGGING".

WEBINAR ON ETHICAL HACKING

Date : 29-08-2020

Time : 10:00 A.M-5:00 P.M

Venue : YouTube Online, KLEF

Ethical Hacking, also known as penetration testing, intrusion testing, or red teaming, is the controversial act of locating weaknesses and vulnerabilities of computer and information systems by duplicating the intent and actions of malicious hackers.

An Ethical Hacker, also known as a whitehat hacker, or simply a whitehat, is a security professional who applies their hacking skills for defensive purposes on behalf of the owners of information systems. Nowadays, certified ethical hackers are among the most sought after information security employees in large organizations such as Wipro, Infosys, IBM, Airtel and Reliance among others.

Ethical hacking refers to the act of locating weaknesses and vulnerabilities of computer and information systems by duplicating the intent and actions of malicious hackers. Ethical hacking is also known as penetration testing, intrusion testing, or red teaming. An ethical hacker is a security professional who applies their hacking skills for defensive purposes on behalf of the owners of information systems. By conducting penetration tests, an ethical hacker looks to answer the following four basic questions ^[1] :

1. What information/locations/systems can an attacker gain access?
2. What can an attacker see on the target?
3. What can an attacker do with available information?
4. Does anyone at the target system notice the attempts?

An ethical hacker operates with the knowledge and permission of the organization for which they are trying to defend. In some cases, the organization will neglect to inform their information security team of the activities that will be carried out by an ethical hacker in an attempt to test the effectiveness of the information security team. This is referred to as a double-blind environment. In order to operate effectively and legally, an ethical hacker must be informed of the assets that should be protected, potential threat sources, and the extent to which the organization will support an ethical hacker's effort

We, the team KL CSE CEA along with White Hat Club conducted a Ethical Hacking Webinar. In this webinar, students got to know about the basics of Ethical Hacking and Cyber Security. We had an interactive session where we not only inculcated the interest among them but also kept their expectations high as they went on typing #CSECEA simultaneously motivating us to come up with some good topics next time.

The image displays two screenshots of a YouTube live stream titled "Webinar on Ethical Hacking | WhiteHat Club | KLCSE CEA".

Top Screenshot: The video player shows a slide titled "Who is a Hacker?". It features six categories of hackers, each with an illustration and a label: "Black hat" (a person in a black hat), "Grey hat" (a person in a grey hat), "White hat" (a person in a white hat), "Script kiddie" (a person with a skull and crossbones), "State sponsored Hacker" (a person in a red hat), and "Hacktivist" (a person in a blue hat). The video player shows 157 watching now and started streaming 3 minutes ago. The live chat on the right shows several comments from viewers.

Bottom Screenshot: The video player shows a slide titled "CYBER SECURITY AND ITS DOMAINS". It lists the domains of cyber security: "Access Control", "Cryptography", "Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery Planning", "Physical Security", and "Software Development Security". The video player shows 121 watching now and started streaming 10 minutes ago. The live chat on the right shows several comments from viewers.

They were also shown how to hack an instagram account .

EXPERT TALKS ON COVID

Date : 08/09/2020

Time : 10:00 A.M - 5:00 P.M

Venue : KLEF

Coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19), also known as the coronavirus, or COVID, is a contagious disease caused by severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2). The first known case was identified in Wuhan, China, in December 2019.^[7] The disease has since spread worldwide, leading to an ongoing pandemic.

Symptoms of COVID-19 are variable, but often include fever, cough, headache, fatigue, breathing difficulties, and loss of smell and taste. Symptoms may begin one to fourteen days after exposure to the virus. At least a third of people who are infected do not develop noticeable symptoms. Of those people who develop noticeable symptoms enough to be classed as patients, most (81%) develop mild to moderate symptoms (up to mild pneumonia), while 14% develop severe symptoms (dyspnea, hypoxia, or more than 50% lung involvement on imaging), and 5% suffer critical symptoms (respiratory failure, shock, or multiorgan dysfunction). Older people are at a higher risk of developing severe symptoms. Some people continue to experience a range of effects (long COVID) for months after recovery, and damage to organs has been observed. Multi-year studies are underway to further investigate the long-term effects of the disease.

Transmission of COVID-19 occurs when people are exposed to virus-containing respiratory droplets and airborne particles exhaled by an infected person. Those particles may be inhaled or may reach the mouth, nose, or eyes of a person through touching or direct deposition (i.e. being coughed on). The risk of infection is highest when people are in close proximity for a long time, but particles can be inhaled over longer distances, particularly indoors in poorly ventilated and crowded spaces. In those conditions small particles can remain suspended in the air for minutes to hours. Touching a contaminated surface or object may lead to infection although this does not contribute substantially to transmission. People who are infected can transmit the virus to another person up to two days before they themselves show symptoms, as can people who do not experience symptoms. People remain infectious for up to ten days after the onset of symptoms in moderate cases and up to twenty days in severe cases.

Several testing methods have been developed to diagnose the disease. The standard diagnostic method is by detection of the virus' nucleic acid by real-time reverse transcription polymerase chain reaction (rRT-PCR), transcription-mediated amplification (TMA), or by reverse transcription loop-mediated isothermal amplification (RT-LAMP) from a nasopharyngeal swab.

Preventive measures include physical or social distancing, quarantining, ventilation of indoor spaces, covering coughs and sneezes, hand washing, and keeping unwashed hands away from the face. The use of face masks or coverings has been recommended in public settings to minimize the risk of transmissions. Several vaccines have been developed and many countries have initiated mass vaccination campaigns.

We, the team KL CSE CEA conducted an online session “EXPERT TALKS”. It was conducted by seeing the rise of Covid-19 cases across the country and about dealing with stress and complications that are being faced by students nowadays. It was an awareness cum interaction talk event. This was all possible with the help of Dr. SARITHA KAKANI (MBBS , F. Diab , D. Diab, PGDD) who is currently working in Dr. Mohan’s Diabetes Specialties Centre, Vijayawada as Consultant Diabetologist. Attendees got to know much more about COVID -19, the process of how to cure it, avoid it and she also told what all new ways have come to cure it. This session went very smoothly and we had positive reviews of the event

ORIENTATION ON SCIENCE & PSEUDOSCIENCE

Date : 26/09/2020

Time : 10:00 A.M - 5:00 PM

Venue : KLEF

Science (from the Latin word scientia, meaning "knowledge") is a systematic enterprise that builds and organizes knowledge in the form of testable explanations and predictions about the universe.

The earliest roots of science can be traced to Ancient Egypt and Mesopotamia in around 3000 to 1200 BCE. Their contributions to mathematics, astronomy, and medicine entered and shaped Greek natural philosophy of classical antiquity, whereby formal attempts were made to provide explanations of events in the physical world based on natural causes. After the fall of the Western Roman Empire, knowledge of Greek conceptions of the world deteriorated in Western Europe during the early centuries (400 to 1000 CE) of the Middle Ages, but was preserved in the Muslim world during the Islamic Golden Age. The recovery and assimilation of Greek works and Islamic inquiries into Western Europe from the 10th to 13th century revived "natural philosophy", which was later transformed by the Scientific Revolution that began in the 16th century^[10] as new ideas and discoveries departed from previous Greek conceptions and traditions. The scientific method soon played a greater role in knowledge creation and it was not until the 19th century that many of the institutional and professional features of science began to take shape; along with the changing of "natural philosophy" to "natural science."

Modern science is typically divided into three major branches that consist of the natural sciences (e.g., biology, chemistry, and physics), which study nature in the broadest sense; the social sciences (e.g., economics, psychology, and sociology), which study individuals and societies; and the formal sciences (e.g., logic, mathematics, and theoretical computer science), which deal with symbols governed by rules. There is disagreement, however, on whether the formal sciences actually constitute a science as they do not rely on empirical evidence. Disciplines that use existing scientific knowledge for practical purposes, such as engineering and medicine, are described as applied sciences.

Pseudoscience consists of statements, beliefs, or practices that claim to be both scientific and factual but are incompatible with the scientific method. Pseudoscience is often characterized by contradictory, exaggerated or unfalsifiable claims; reliance on confirmation bias rather than rigorous attempts at refutation; lack of openness to evaluation by other experts; absence of systematic practices when developing hypotheses; and continued adherence long after the pseudoscientific hypotheses have been experimentally discredited.

The demarcation between science and pseudoscience has philosophical, political, and scientific implications.^[4] Differentiating science from pseudoscience has practical implications in the case of health care, expert testimony, environmental policies, and science education. Distinguishing scientific facts and theories from pseudoscientific beliefs, such as those found in climate change denial, astrology, alchemy, alternative medicine, occult beliefs, and creation science, is part of science education and literacy.

Pseudoscience can have dangerous effects. For example, pseudoscientific anti-vaccine activism and promotion of homeopathic remedies as alternative disease treatments can result in people forgoing important medical treatments with demonstrable health benefits, leading to deaths and ill-health. Furthermore, people who refuse legitimate medical treatments to contagious diseases may put others at risk. Pseudoscientific theories about racial and ethnic classifications have led to racism and genocide.

The term pseudoscience is often considered pejorative particularly by purveyors of it, because it suggests something is being presented as science inaccurately or even deceptively. Those practicing or advocating pseudoscience therefore frequently dispute the characterization.

We, the team KL CSE CEA conducted an event on SCIENCE AND PSEUDOSCIENCE, where we clarified the attempts that have been made in time and labelled to be as rituals were actually scientific procedures. The session had eye catching topics and interesting facts. To keep it more entertaining we had videos and some facts and myths which was decoded by our Presenter. We unfolded the old age practices and the reason of practicing it till today without knowing the real fact about it.

The main idea to conduct this type of event was to give some knowledge of why it is said to be like that and so that they can share the real logic behind .As WHY is important in our life ,which keeps us curious and on the go our team came up with this idea of fun, entertainment and knowledge that nothing happens without a reason.

WEBINAR ON WHO MADE GANDHIJI FATHER OF NATION

Date : 02/10/2020

Time : 10:00 A.M - 5:00 P.M

Venue : KLEF

“A small body of determined spirits fired by an unquenchable faith in their mission can alter the course of history.”

Known for his disciplinarian and sombre attitude, The Father of our nation has proved us when you have the conviction of your views and purpose, you stand tall, fearless and confident in every situation. Everyone, especially growing children and youth are exposed to Gandhiji's philosophies. Gandhiji's courage to stand up for his rights and how he fearlessly challenged the authority by leading people to protect rules or laws that were against basic human rights always inspires us the most. Gandhiji is still revered worldwide, not only for helping liberate the Indian subcontinent from British imperialism but for his nonviolent protests, which inspired many other civil rights movements. He resisted evil with as much vigour and power as the violent resister, but with love instead of hate. Armed only with great courage and a strong commitment to nonviolent resistance, Gandhiji took on one of the world's mightiest empires.

Memoirs when confined to ink and papers, can't move a feather, taking a place only in an old librarian's conscience. History is an advice to the present and a roadmap to the future. It is mankind's responsibility to commemorate, understand and revere the past while having a keen thought of the future. Of all the historical events and eras, the legacy laid by a man as endearing and respected as Gandhiji should become the path of the nation's journey of development. Taking that pivotal purpose as an invincible desire, KL CSE-CEA has organized a webinar on “What made him the Father of the Nation”, commemorating the 151st birth anniversary of Gandhiji on October 2nd, 2020. Beginning at 4 PM on the auspicious day, the event constituted of an elaborate and motivating webinar on the life and times of the Mahatma, taking time back to the 19th and 20th centuries and detailing the facts that paved way for him to be affectionately called the “Father of the Nation”. The participants have paid utmost attention and took in a lot of history, ultimately understanding the greatness of Gandhiji with the meticulous efforts of the team bearing fruits.

STRATEGIES ON WOMEN EMPOWERMENT

Date : 27/03/2021

Time : 10:00 AM - 3:00 PM

Venue : Buthumillipadu, Gannavaram

Our society comprises men and women. In earlier times, men were considered to be the leading members of a family. They were responsible for earning the livelihood and were the decision takers of the family. On the other hand, women were responsible for doing household work and upbringing of the children. So, the roles were mainly based on gender. There was no involvement of women in decision making. If we assess our entire sector, then research says that women's issues are either focused on her reproductive role and her body or on her economic role as a worker. But none of them is focused on empowering the women.

Women Empowerment is the process that creates power in women to live a happy and respectable life in a society. Women are empowered when they are able to access opportunities in a variety of fields such as in education, profession, lifestyle, etc., without any limitations and restrictions. It includes raising their status through education, awareness, literacy and training. It also includes the authority to take decisions. When a woman makes a crucial decision, she feels empowered.

Women's empowerment is the most crucial point for the overall development of a country. Suppose, in a family, there is one earning person, while in another family, both men and women are earning, then who will have a better lifestyle. The answer is simple, the family where both men and women are earning money. Thus, the country where men and women work together develops at a faster rate. Women can be empowered in various ways. It can be done through government schemes as well as on an individual basis. At the individual level, we should start respecting women and start giving them opportunities equal to men. We should promote and encourage them to take up jobs, higher education, business activities, etc. The Government has come up with various schemes such as Beti Bachao Beti Padhao Yojana, Mahila-E-Haat, Mahila Shakti Kendra, Working Women Hostel, Sukanya Samriddhi Yojana, etc. to empower women. Apart from these schemes, we as individuals can also empower women by abolishing social evils like the dowry system, child marriage. These small steps will change the situation of women in society and make them feel empowered.

Resource Person:

Dr.S. Arun Mehta is currently working as Associate Professor in the Department of Electronics & Communication Engineering. He completed his Post-Doctoral Fellowship from Centre for Nanoscience and Technology, Anna University, Chennai. He had 33 publications, 2 book chapters and 2 patents. He also had 4 sponsored research projects to his credit. His area of interests include Nanostructures materials for photovoltaic cells and hydrogen evolution, Natural derived nanomaterials for Energy and Environmental application, Design and fabrication of nano devices for gas sensors and electromagnetic shielding, Design and Development of IoT systems for smart cities, Investigating the Green Energy for IoT Devices.

Event Description

In the past few years, the internet of things (IoT) has garnered a lot of attention owing to its significant deployment for fulfilling the global demand. It has been seen that power-efficient devices such as sensors and IoT play a significant role in our regular lives. However, the popularity of IoT sensors and low-power electronic devices is limited due to the lower lifetime of various energy resources which are needed for powering the sensors over time. For overcoming this issue, it is important to design and develop better, high-performing, and effective energy harvesting systems. In this article, different types of ambient energy harvesting systems which can power IoT-enabled sensors, as well as wireless sensor networks (WSNs), are reviewed. Various energy harvesting models which can increase the sustainability of the energy supply required for IoT devices are also discussed. Furthermore, the challenges which need to be overcome to make IoT-enabled sensors more durable, reliable, energy-efficient, and economical are identified.

Research Trends in the EHS for IoT Devices

- a. Energy Harvesting (EH) Efficiencies
- b. Energy Storage in EH Systems
- c. Energy Harvesting (EH) Concepts

How are we solving problem ?

- The world will have 1 trillion IoT devices by 2025 all needing a power source
- Most of these will be wireless devices
- Great opportunities but very challenging
- How to reliably power 1 trillion sensors?
- A small proportion of electric power provided

Turning the IOT devices in to Plug free with an ambient energy-20210412 0811-1

Time : 10:00 A.M to 5:00 P.M

NATIONAL LEVEL SEMINAR ON HOW TO GET RID OF PLASTIC

Resource Person:

Mrs. Chandra Radha is a dedicated individual leading technological revolution in eGovernance, simplifying and re-engineering the processes through cost-effective state-of-the art technologies innovatively. She is a Senior Technical Director & HoD for several AP Projects. Team Leader for Aadhaar enabled Public Distribution System (AePDS) developed for AP Civil Supplies Department. Over thirty (30) years of work experience in the field of Information and Communication Technology in Consulting, has an invaluable project management experience with various governmental departments and agencies besides all the areas of software engineering. She completed her Masters in Computer Applications from University of Hyderabad. She also Worked on open technologies of PERL, Java with MySQL and Postgres Databases.

Event Description:

Our beautiful atmosphere are part of our collective heritage. Every time we refuse to use a piece of plastic, it is one small victory for our marine life. But we need to pressure governments and corporations to act too. The easiest and most obvious way to eliminate plastic in the future is to stop buying products featuring any plastic at all - however, 'cold turkey-ing' plastic products is not necessarily convenient or practical and people are still heavily reluctant to the idea. Nevertheless, countries like France and Kenya are phasing out single-use plastics by banning the use of plastic ware, plates, and cups. Infractions with plastic products are being heavily fined and could lead to jail time. Discussions are also being made to ban single-use plastic products across all of Europe as well.

Tips To Get Rid of Plastic

1. Stop using plastic straws, even in restaurants. If a straw is a must, purchase a reusable stainless steel or glass straw
2. Use a reusable produce bag. A single plastic bag can take 1,000 years to degrade. Purchase or make your own reusable produce bag and be sure to wash them often!
3. Give up gum. Gum is made of a synthetic rubber, aka plastic.
4. Buy boxes instead of bottles. Often, products like laundry detergent come in cardboard which is more easily recycled than plastic.
5. Purchase food, like cereal, pasta, and rice from bulk bins and fill a reusable bag or container. You save money and unnecessary packaging.
6. Reuse containers for storing leftovers or shopping in bulk.
7. Use a reusable bottle or mug for your beverages, even when ordering from a to-go shop
8. Bring your own container for take-out or your restaurant doggy-bag since many restaurants use styrofoam.
9. Use matches instead of disposable plastic lighters or invest in a refillable metal lighter.
10. Avoid buying frozen foods because their packaging is mostly plastic. Even those that appear to be cardboard are coated in a thin layer of plastic. Plus you'll be eating fewer processed foods!
11. Don't use plasticware at home and be sure to request restaurants do not pack them in your take-out box.
12. Ask your local grocer to take your plastic containers (for berries, tomatoes, etc.) back. If you shop at a farmers market they can refill it for you.
13. The EPA estimates that 7.6 billion pounds of disposable diapers are discarded in the US each year. Use cloth diapers to reduce your baby's carbon footprint and save money.
14. Make fresh squeezed juice or eat fruit instead of buying juice in plastic bottles. It's healthier and better for the environment.
15. Make your own cleaning products that will be less toxic and eliminate the need for multiple plastic bottles of cleaner.
16. Pack your lunch in reusable containers and bags. Also, opt for fresh fruits and veggies and bulk items instead of products that come in single serving cups.
17. Use a razor with replaceable blades instead of a disposable razor

Challenges

The Government: The government has been reluctant to adopt eco friendly measures (may be ?) due to the pressure from the plastic industry.

The citizens: while some of us are aware about the problems that we are facing, most neither have any idea of the trouble these non-eco-friendly products can cause, nor do they have the any info about using the eco-friendly products, and their benefits.

Guidelines for better waste management for Municipalities / Panchayats

- ▶ Municipalities / Panchayats have to set up manned dry waste collection points (or AQU with existing Raddiwala shops) and community composting units, for every sub area in their jurisdiction.
- ▶ People have to hand-over Recyclable waste at dry waste collection points. People manning the centres can check on the quality of dry waste and receive it. This activity of maintaining a dry waste collection point can be out sourced under supervision of authorities. The segregated waste thus collected can be sent to recycling units directly instead of land fills.
- ▶ People / Households can have the option of composting wet waste on their own or delivering to community composting units.
- ▶ Swachh Bharat audit / clearance to be made by Municipalities and heavy penalties to be levied for non compliance. The Swachh audit clearance to be made compulsory yearly for all organisations / households just like pollution clearance for vehicles.

Event Description:

The role of technology, in a traditional school setting, is to facilitate, through increased efficiency and effectiveness, the education of knowledge and skills. In order to fully examine this thesis, we must first define several terms. Efficiency will be defined as the quickness by which we obtain knowledge, while the term effectiveness is associated with the amount of imparted knowledge that is operationally mastered. When technology is directly applied to an educational setting, such as a school, both the students and teachers can be viewed as learners. Thus, we can operate under the assumption that any increase in teacher knowledge and utilization has the impact of increased learning in students. Ultimately, technology should serve to increase student achievement in schools. Technology can aid in educational achievement through two primary methods: the removal of physical barriers to learning and the transition of focus from the retention of knowledge to its utilization.

Each of these methods must be examined in the context of their relation to both the student and the instructor in order to see their value and effect in educational settings. The removal of physical barriers has allowed teachers greater accessibility in regards to professional development and graduate education. Before the age of the internet and the advent of distance learning, engaging in a learning community, such as a workplace network or a school, required a close degree of physical proximity amongst community members. Presently, there are multiple examples of the use of distributed learning technology in the educational field. First, many graduate schools have begun transitioning into programs that allow for distance education. No longer is it a necessity that teachers have geographical proximity to a university in Technology and its use in Education: Present Roles and Future Prospects 4 order to pursue higher education and certification. This trend towards online classes and educational opportunities has even become so prevalent that there are universities which consist of only online classes, allowing a teacher to complete an entire course of study through distance learning (Dempsey & Van Eck, 2007). Second, the use of distance learning is not limited to the university setting, but also found in school site, district, and state levels of professional development for teachers, with the emergence of web-based conferences and seminars.

NATIONAL LEVEL SEMINAR ON WOMEN
WELL BEING IN PANDEMIC AND AFTER PANDEMIC

Resource Person:

Mrs. M S R Uma Sankari completed M.Sc. (Psychology) in 2007 from Acharya Nagarjuna University. She also completed her M.Ed. from Gulam Ahmed College of Education, Osmania University. She is N.C.C 'A' and 'B' and N.I.C certified. She has 14 years in Teaching (7th – 10th Physics, B.Ed.-Physics).

Event Description:

CARE International conducted a report based on first-person accounts of more than 10,000 participants views of the challenges faced by women during COVID-19.

The study found that 27% of women reported an increase in challenges associated with mental illness, compared to only 10% of men. Women especially point to skyrocketing unpaid care burdens as a source of this stress, in addition to worries about livelihoods, food, and health care.

According to the study findings, women are also nearly twice as likely to report difficulty accessing quality health services.

“The extra toll on women's mental health makes sense given what we know about how many women have had to leave the workforce in order to care for children or other family members at home, or are dealing with an impossible and constant juggling act of kids, plus career, plus other responsibilities,” says Naomi Torres-Mackie, PhD, head of research at the Mental Health Coalition.

With the build-up of responsibilities, like homeschooling or caring for sick relatives, she says it becomes harder for women to care for themselves, which in turn affects their mental health.

Kennedy agrees, noting that multitasking leads to less efficiency and quality in each role, and takes time away from self-care. “Hence, mental health concerns among women, in particular, have been on the rise,” she says.

For women who are pregnant or new moms during the pandemic, isolation can be especially difficult, adds Torres-Mackie.

“The perinatal time is one where moms-to-be and new moms most need care themselves, and it can be difficult to get that right now. Also, this period itself puts women at risk for mental health conditions (e.g., major depressive disorder with peripartum onset), so that combined with pandemic-related stress is a difficult combination to manage,” she says.

For those struggling with anxiety, depression, substance use or other mental illnesses, Kennedy says you are not alone.

“Help is available, and part of rebuilding a sense of balance is taking even a little sliver of time to care for oneself during an unprecedented experience of social isolation, prolonged strain, and possible grief,” she says.

Event Description:

Cultural heritage tourism (or just heritage tourism) is a branch of tourism oriented towards the cultural heritage of the location where tourism is occurring.

The National Trust for Historic Preservation in the United States defines heritage tourism as "traveling to experience the places, artifacts and activities that authentically represent the stories and people of the past", and "heritage tourism can include cultural, historic and natural resources".

Culture has always been a major part of travel, as the development of the Grand Tour from the 16th century onwards attests. In the 20th century, some people have claimed, culture ceased to be the objective of tourism; tourism is now culture. Cultural attractions play an important role in tourism at all levels, from the global highlights of world culture to attractions that underpin local identities.

Culture, heritage and the arts have long contributed to appeal of tourist destination. However, in recent years 'culture' has been rediscovered as an important marketing tool to attract those travellers with special interests in heritage and arts.

According to the Hollinshead, cultural heritage tourism defines as cultural heritage tourism is the fastest growing segment of the tourism industry because there is a trend toward an increase specialization among tourists. This trend is evident in the rise in the volume of tourists who seek adventure, culture, history, archaeology and interaction with local people.

Cultural heritage tourism is important for various reasons; it has a positive economic and social impact, it establishes and reinforces identity, it helps preserve the cultural heritage, with culture as an instrument it facilitates harmony and understanding among people, it supports culture and helps renew tourism. As Benjamin Porter and Noel B. Salazar have ethnographically documented, however, cultural heritage tourism can also create tensions and even conflict between the different stakeholders involved.

Cultural heritage tourism has a number of objectives that must be met within the context of sustainable development such as; the conservation of cultural resources, accurate interpretation of resources, authentic visitors experience, and the stimulation of the earned revenues of cultural resources. We can see, therefore, that cultural heritage tourism is not only concerned with identification, management and protection of the heritage values but it must also be involved in understanding the impact of tourism on communities and regions, achieving economic and social benefits, providing financial resources for protection, as well as marketing and promotion. (J. M. Fladmark, 1994)

Heritage tourism involves visiting historical or industrial sites that may include old canals, railways, battlegrounds, military sites, etc. The overall purpose is to gain an appreciation of the past.

Event Description:

Social work is the work done by individuals for the benefit of the society. It should be aimed to promote social change or development in the society.

Social workers stand up every day for human rights and social justice to help strengthen our communities. They can be the voice for people who aren't being heard.

Through their commitment to bringing about positive social change, helping individuals of all ages thrive in their local environment and being an advocate for those who have lost their voice, social workers play a prominent role in improving the lives of those who need it most.

The main purpose of social work is to help people connect to resources. We are the practical bridge between psychology and sociology and more concretely between individuals and their community. We are the oil that keeps the engine of our society running smoothly, we help people to move through harrowing conflict without locking up or shutting down. It doesn't matter if a social worker is getting a wheel chair for a gunshot victim or teaching mindfulness to a person coping with anxiety the main mission is always the same, help the client to achieve their goals and if possible reduce suffering along the way.

It's one of the most honorable careers. You are helping actual people and making a difference in their lives. Social Workers can not be replaced by robots anytime in the future because that which humanizes us can not be replicated by a machine. You need to get a Masters Degree to make a "living wage". But a lot can be done without one. You will not be paid a sustainable wage though. There is nothing more rewarding than going through the human emotions of helping someone else. It should be one of the highest paying careers not the lowest. Social workers play an important role in improving the lives of those who need it the most. We live in a world where despite being from good economic and financial backgrounds, have to struggle to establish a lifestyle. Think about those who do not have money or any other source of income to make their two ends meet, to feed their children so they don't go to sleep on empty stomachs.

NATIONAL LEVEL SEMINAR ROLE OF WOMEN IN SOCIAL EMPOWERMENT

Resource Person:

Mrs. Priya Saragadam is part of Malayasian Telugu Association. She is social activist, Business women, Philantroist.

Event Description:

Women education in India has a major preoccupation of both the government and civil society as educated women can play a very important role in the development of the country. Education is milestone of women empowerment because it enables them to responds to the challenges, to confront their traditional role and change their life. So that we can't neglect the importance of education in reference to women empowerment and India poised to becoming superpower in recent years. Education of women is the most powerful tool to change the position in society. Women education in India has been a need of the hour, as education is a foundation stone for the empowerment of woman. . Education also brings a reduction in inequalities and functions as a means of improving their status within the family and develops the concept of participation.

Empowerment can be viewed as means of creating a social environment in which one can make decisions and make choices either individually or collectively for social transformation. The empowerment strengthens the innate ability by way of acquiring knowledge, power and experience (Hashemi Schuler and Riley, 1996). Empowerment is the process of enabling or authorizing individual to think, take action and control work in an autonomous way. It is the process by which one can gain control over one's destiny and the circumstances of one's lives.

There are always a number of elements in the society which are deprived of their basic rights in every society, state and nation, but these elements lack in the awareness of their rights. If we enlist such elements from the society, then women would top this list. In fact, women are the most important factor of every society.

Even though everybody is aware of this fact, but nobody is ready to accept this fact. As a result, the importance which used to be given to women is declining in today's society. As a consequence of this growing tendency of underestimating women such as to make them occupy a secondary position in society and to deprive them of their basic rights, the need for empowering women was felt.

Empowering women has become the focus of considerable discussion and attention all over the world. Today we enjoy the benefits of being citizens of a free nation, but we really need to think whether each of the citizens of our country is really free or enjoying freedom, in the true sense of the term. The inequalities between men and women and discrimination against women are an age-old issue all over the world. Thus women quest for equality with man is a universal phenomenon.

Women should equal with men in matters of education, employment, inheritance, marriage, and politics etc. Their quest for equality has given birth to the formation of many women's associations and launching of movements. The Constitution of our nation doesn't discriminate between men and women, but our society has deprived women of certain basic rights, which were bestowed upon them by our Constitution. Empowerment allows individuals to reach their full potential, to improve their political and social participation, and to believe in their own capabilities.

NATIONAL LEVEL SEMINAR ON COVID

Resource Person:

Mrs. Nallapaty Srilakshmi completed her graduation and post-graduation from Acharya Nagarjuna University & Currently Perusing her Ph.D. from K. L University. She is having Academic excellency with teaching experience of 8 years. She is an eminent researcher and had various publications in Scopus and Web of Sciences journals. She is a fellow of IIT Research fellowship program and certified candidate for various skilling courses. She is also a good speaker, convener, organizer for different national and international seminars, webinars and workshops.

Dr. M. Vasuja Devi is currently working as Associate Professor in the Department of Electronics & Communication Engineering, KLEF. She is also Associate Dean (Grievances, Cells, Forums and Committees). She completed her Doctoral Degree from JNTU Anantapur in 2020. She has 25 publications and 5 patents to her credit.

Event Description:

Coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19), also known as the coronavirus, or COVID, is a contagious disease caused by severe acute respiratory syndrome coronavirus 2 (SARS-CoV-2). The first known case was identified in Wuhan, China, in December 2019. The disease has since spread worldwide, leading to an ongoing pandemic.

Symptoms of COVID-19 are variable, but often include fever, cough, headache, fatigue, breathing difficulties, and loss of smell and taste. Symptoms may begin one to fourteen days after exposure to the virus. At least a third of people who are infected do not develop noticeable symptoms. Of those people who develop noticeable symptoms enough to be classed as patients, most (81%) develop mild to moderate symptoms (up to mild pneumonia), while 14% develop severe symptoms (dyspnea, hypoxia, or more than 50% lung involvement on imaging), and 5% suffer critical symptoms (respiratory failure, shock, or multiorgan dysfunction). Older people are at a higher risk of developing severe symptoms. Some people continue to experience a range of effects (long COVID) for months after recovery, and damage to organs has been observed. Multi-year studies are underway to further investigate the long-term effects of the disease.

Transmission of COVID-19 occurs when people are exposed to virus-containing respiratory droplets and airborne particles exhaled by an infected person. Those particles may be inhaled or may reach the mouth, nose, or eyes of a person through touching or direct deposition (i.e. being coughed on). The risk of infection is highest when people are in close proximity for a long time, but particles can be inhaled over longer distances, particularly indoors in poorly ventilated and crowded spaces. In those conditions small particles can remain suspended in the air for minutes to hours. Touching a contaminated surface or object may lead to infection although this does not contribute substantially to transmission. People who are infected can transmit the virus to another person up to two days before they themselves show symptoms, as can people who do not experience symptoms. People remain infectious for up to ten days after the onset of symptoms in moderate cases and up to twenty days in severe cases.

Several testing methods have been developed to diagnose the disease. The standard diagnostic method is by detection of the virus' nucleic acid by real-time reverse transcription polymerase chain reaction (rRT-PCR), transcription-mediated amplification (TMA), or by reverse transcription loop-mediated isothermal amplification (RT-LAMP) from a nasopharyngeal swab.

Preventive measures include physical or social distancing, quarantining, ventilation of indoor spaces, covering coughs and sneezes, hand washing, and keeping unwashed hands away from the face. The use of face masks or coverings has been recommended in public settings to minimize the risk of transmissions. Several vaccines have been developed and many countries have initiated mass vaccination campaigns.

Although work is underway to develop drugs that inhibit the virus, the primary treatment is symptomatic. Management involves the treatment of symptoms, supportive care, isolation, and experimental measures.

Symptoms of COVID-19 are variable, ranging from mild symptoms to severe illness. Common symptoms include headache, loss of smell and taste, nasal congestion and runny nose, cough, muscle pain, sore throat, fever, diarrhea, and breathing difficulties. People with the same infection may have different symptoms, and their symptoms may change over time. Three common clusters of symptoms have been identified: one respiratory symptom cluster with cough, sputum, shortness of breath, and fever; a musculoskeletal symptom cluster with muscle and joint pain, headache, and fatigue; a cluster of digestive symptoms with abdominal pain, vomiting, and diarrhea.¹ In people without prior ear, nose, and throat disorders, loss of taste combined with loss of smell is associated with COVID-19.

The screenshot shows a Zoom meeting interface with a presentation slide titled "FLU" and "COVID-19". The slide compares the two viruses across several categories:

- Symptoms: Both begin 1-4 days after exposure.
- Cause: Flu is caused by Influenza virus (many strains); COVID-19 is caused by SARS-CoV-2 virus.
- Complications: Flu complications are less likely due to immunity; COVID-19 complications can be severe and rapid.
- Prevention: Flu is prevented by a flu shot; COVID-19 is prevented by self-isolation.
- Transmission: Both are transmitted by respiratory droplets from an infected person.

The screenshot shows a Zoom meeting interface with a presentation slide titled "How is COVID-19 spread?". The slide lists the following transmission methods:

- Most people are infected from other people in close contact (within 2 metres or 6 feet).
- It spreads through droplets created when we talk, cough, sing, sneeze or breathe heavily.
- These droplets enter the nose, eyes or mouth or when the infected droplets are inhaled.
- In indoor spaces with inadequate ventilation, COVID-19 has spread to people who were more than 2 metres or 6 feet away.
- Touching contaminated objects puts the droplets onto your hands. If you touch your face, the droplets can enter your nose / eyes / mouth.
- Infected people with minimal or no symptoms can spread COVID-19.

The slide includes an illustration of two blue figures interacting with orange virus particles. The Zoom interface shows participants: class room 111, SUDDAPAL, j_Marid Ma, YERUNA AN, and SYAM JASO.

It can also cause many other symptoms, including

- Headache / muscle aches
- Sudden loss of sense of smell and taste
- Runny/stuffy nose
- Nausea, vomiting, diarrhoea
- Rash

Some people have no symptoms, most have a mild illness. It can be severe and sometimes fatal.

Many patients recover fully in about 2 weeks. In others, some symptoms like breathlessness, fatigue may continue for weeks and months.

Event Description:

Community engagement is one of the key pillars of corporate social responsibility (CSR), alongside the concern with the workplace, the marketplace and the environment. Community involvement can take many forms. For example, some businesses choose to:

- support a local charity with financial contributions
- sponsor a local event
- organise clean-up events
- volunteer in local schools or community projects

For most businesses, it makes commercial sense to get involved in community-based CSR related to your product or service. This lets you use your expertise, and show the human face of your business at the same time. For example, some restaurants provide food to local homeless groups, while some builders give free labour and materials to community projects. Look for opportunities that will mutually benefit you and your community - eg by generating publicity, or improving the neighbourhood around your premises.

Many businesses include their employees in decisions about CSR activities. You can, for example:

- support charities chosen by your staff
- encourage staff to volunteer for community activities
- give staff paid time off for volunteering
- help employees to make tax-free donations to charity through 'payroll giving'

As well as improving community relations, involving your staff in CSR can help motivate them and encourage their personal and professional development. Working with your local community can bring a wide range of benefits. For example, for many businesses, local customers are an important source of sales. Demonstrating commitment to your community can also improve your business reputation and, in turn, make it easier for you to recruit or retain employees. A good relationship with local authorities can also help. For instance, some local authorities prefer to award contracts to businesses with a record of community involvement.

Event Description:

Social emotional development represents a specific domain of child development. It is a gradual, integrative process through which children acquire the capacity to understand, experience, express, and manage emotions and to develop meaningful relationships with others. As such, social emotional development encompasses a large range of skills and constructs, including, but not limited to: self-awareness, joint attention, play, theory of mind (or understanding others' perspectives), self-esteem, emotion regulation, friendships, and identity development.

Social emotional development sets a foundation for children to engage in other developmental tasks. For example, in order to complete a difficult school assignment, a child may need the ability to manage their sense of frustration and seek out help from a peer. To maintain a romantic relationship after a fight, a teen may need to be able to articulate their feelings and take the perspective of their partner to successfully resolve the conflict. However, it is also interrelated with and dependent on other developmental domains. For example, language delays or deficits have been associated with social-emotional disturbances.

Many mental health disorders, including major depressive disorder, anxiety disorders, borderline personality disorder, substance use disorders, and eating disorders, can be conceptualized through the lens of social emotional development, most prominently emotion regulation. Many of the core symptoms of autism spectrum disorder reflect abnormalities in social emotional developmental areas, including joint attention and theory of mind.

Starting at about 8–10 months, infants begin to engage in social referencing, in which they refer to another, often an adult or caregiver, to inform their reaction to environmental stimuli. In the classic visual cliff experiments, 12-month-old babies who were separated from their mothers by a plexiglass floor that appeared to represent a dangerous “cliff” looked to their mothers for a cue. When mothers responded to their infants with facial expressions signaling encouragement and happiness, most infants crossed over the cliff. In contrast, if mothers displayed fear or anger, most infants did not cross.

From an early age, newborns are reactive to others’ distress, as evidenced by behaviors such as crying in response to another infant’s cry. As children continue to develop, they begin to display behaviors that indicate an understanding of and connection to others’ emotional states beyond the simple informational value those emotional states provide. Children at 18–30 months will respond to verbal and nonverbal cues, such as facial expressions or body posture, of discomfort or sadness with simple helping behaviors (e.g., giving an adult a blanket if they are shivering, rubbing their arms, and saying “brr”). Throughout this period (18–30 months), children become more adept and need fewer cues to engage in helping behavior. However, helping behavior at this age is already dependent on the cost of helping (e.g., they are less likely to give the adult their own blanket) and the recipient of the help (e.g., children are more likely to help and show concern for caregivers than strangers or peers).
