Pragmatic Coder

Dates: 07.09.2019

KLEF, Computer Science and Engineering Department is primarily aimed at encouraging students to learn and pursue their individual talents and abilities. FOCUS, the Student Association of CSE department initiated up Pragmatic Coder.

Here the first round consists of the technical problems, the top participant who gets more than the average score will be selected for the second level. Second level will be an open book round where the selected participants must choose a book at random where the problem statement will be given inside the book. The book is going to be a guide for new programming language which is not covered in our academics. The participants will refer the new programming language and compose the code in that language only.

Team Size: 1 Member
