Encourage Higher Education among School Dropouts

Introduction:

This report presents the collaborative effort between the Women's Forum and the Department of Computer Science and Information Technology (CSIT) to conduct an Outreach Program to Encourage Higher Education among School Dropouts. The program aimed to empower participants with knowledge, skills, and motivation to pursue higher education. The report outlines the program's objectives, outcomes, and recommendations for future initiatives.

Objective:

- To reintegrate school dropouts into the educational system.
- To raise awareness about the benefits of continuous learning and skill development.

Outcomes and Impact:

Enrolment Statistics:

- Measurement of the number of participants re-enrolling in educational programs.
- Data analysis based on gender, age, and academic level.

Skill Acquisition:

- Assessment of new skills acquired by participants.
- Success stories illustrating positive outcomes.

Conclusion: collaborative Outreach Program by Women's Forum and the Department of CSIT successfully addressed the challenges faced by school dropouts in pursuing higher education. By combining educational workshops, mentorship programs, and career exploration activities, the initiative created a positive impact on participants' perspectives and aspirations. The lessons learned from this program can guide future endeavours to empower more individuals to pursue higher education in the dynamic field
