

The Guest Lecture is given by Dr. Anil Kumar Vuppala, Asst. Professor, IIIT Hyderabad. The topic of the Guest Lecture is "Speech Processing Current Problems and Challenges". In the lecture he has elaborately explained about how speech processing is important in our daily activity. He has specified about the Expression recognition, Emotion recognition, Speech recognition, voice conversion, purpose of speech coding, speaker identification and language identification. He did mention why there is a problem to apply the speech processing models on Indian Language. He said the big challenge is to identify the Indian languages using the speech processing. Students of 3rd year E.C.E had actively participated in this session. More than 500 students had taken active participation in the event. Faculty from the E.C.E department, K L University had interacted with the speaker. Dr. MSG Prasad, I/C HOD (Dept. of ECE) of K L University had attended the event and delivered his valuable message on the necessity to conduct the Guest Lecture. The Speaker was honored by Dr. MSG Prasad with a memento.

