

FDP ON TOWARDS AN EFFECTIVE TEACHING AND ACTION RESEARCH IN ENGLISH

(25th January 2018)

REPORT

An FDP was conducted in the Department of English on 25th of January 2018 in which Dr Sabitha Kumari Francis, Professor of the Department of English officiated as the Resource Person. She delivered a lecture on the theme "Towards an Effective Teaching and Action Research in English". While Dr Francis highlighted the need of innovative methods of teaching for effective outcomes from the students in the classroom, she cited a couple of interesting examples from her vast experience in teaching in various parts of the world, especially in the USA and India. The Resource Person laid special emphasis on the use of technology in the effective handling of classroom and explained how to integrate best practices for enhancing performance. . An interesting brainstorming session on Action Research in the context of the needs of Engineering students of KLU, as to how to improve their involvement in classroom activities with a view to enhancing their communication skills and personality, was the result of the intellectual stimulation initiated through the lecture.

The FDP ended with a couple of insightful observations by the HoD, Prof. Dr B Siva Nagaiah, Prof. Dr Rajendra Kumar Dash, Chairman (RPAC), and Prof. Dr P V Ravikumar, the alternate head of the Engineering stream.
