In an effort to enhance legal awareness and provide vital legal aid to marginalized communities, Assistant Professors Dr. Vinodini Devi G. and Ms. Chandini Chowdary from College of Law, KLEF (Deemed to be) University recently participated in a special program hosted by All India Radio (AIR). The initiative aimed to underscore the critical role of pro bono legal services in empowering disadvantaged groups and fostering a more equitable society.

This broadcast highlighted the significance of Nyayabandhu scheme, pro bono work in bridging the gap between legal rights and access to justice, particularly for marginalized sections of society such as women, minorities, and economically disadvantaged individuals. By offering their expertise voluntarily, legal professionals can significantly impact the lives of those who may otherwise lack resources to navigate complex legal processes.

During the broadcast, the faculty emphasized that pro bono legal services not only provide crucial legal representation but also play a pivotal role in raising awareness about fundamental rights and entitlements guaranteed under the law. Through informative sessions and practical advice, the program aimed to educate listeners about their legal rights and avenues for seeking assistance.

Moreover, the initiative underscored the collaborative efforts between academia, legal practitioners, and media platforms like AIR in fostering community engagement and social responsibility. By leveraging the reach and credibility of national broadcasting, the program sought to amplify the message of justice and equality, encouraging more legal professionals to volunteer their services for the greater good.
