WHY UGC APPORVED PERMISSION FOR TWICE AN ACADEMIC YEAR

EXPLAINED EDUCATION

WHY UGC HAS ALLOWED ADMISSIONS TWICE A YEAR, WHAT HAPPENS NOW

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
NEW DELHI, JUNE 11

THE UNIVERSITY Grants Commission (UGC) has allowed universities to admit students twice a year — in July/ August and January/ February. The UGC has said biannual admissions will give universities the flexibility to take a decision on their admission cycles based on infrastructure and faculty available. It is not mandatory for universities to adopt the new system.

Existing process, change

Students are now admitted once a year, in a single academic session that begins in July/ August. The UGC's decision will allow universities to admit students in two cycles, in July/ August and then in January/February, to undergraduate, postgraduate and PhD programmes.

The new system could allow universities to reflect the admission cycles in some countries that admit students twice a year, and where the courses that are available in these different admission cycles may also vary. Universities in the United States, for instance, have 'intakes' in the fall (session that begins in August/ September) and in the spring (session that begins in January).

Reason and beneficiaries

The UGC has already attempted the biannual admission process for open and distance learning, and online programmes, and found that "permitting a second academic session in a year has helped nearly half a million students join their degree programmes without waiting for one full academic year".

This, according to UGC Chairman M Jagadesh Kumar, could benefit students who may have missed admissions in the July/ August session on account of health issues, delays in board exam results, or personal reasons. With admissions opening twice a year, they need not wait for an entire year before they can apply again.

Kumar has said that universities abroad follow a biannual admission system, and this system in Indian institutions "can enhance their international collaborations and student exchanges".

He has also said that this system could also help increase the 'gross enrollment

The new system could help global collaborations, according to UGC chairman M Jagadesh Kumar. File ratio' (GER). For higher education, GER is the ratio of students enrolled to the population of the age group eligible for higher education.

What next for institutions

The decision to open admissions twice a year lies with the universities — their academic and executive councils will have to take the call. It will be up to the universities to work out what programmes they might open up for biannual admissions. The availability of infrastructure and faculty will be crucial in deciding to admit students in two admission cycles.

While the UGC has allowed higher education institutions to admit students twice a year from the coming academic year, Delhi University Vice Chancellor Yogesh Singh pointed out that admissions for the upcoming session have already begun.

Chairman Kumar said: "This a provision that we are providing... It is quite possible that it will not happen immediately. The universities may have to work on their infrastructural requirements, faculty requirements, and then plan it over a period of time."

Singh said the university is open to the idea and may implement it initially for a few programmes before extending it to others.

There is also the question of admissions that are based on entrance exams. Kumar said that it could be "beneficial to students" if they are conducted twice a year.

### UGC Allowing Admission Twice a Year: Key Highlights

- Increased Access and Flexibility: Students get two opportunities per year to apply, reducing pressure and accommodating those with unexpected delays.
- Alignment with International Standards: Matches global academic practices, helping attract international students and align with worldwide academic calendars.
- Better Resource Utilization: Continuous student intake optimizes university infrastructure and resources.
- Enhanced Student Mobility: Supports the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020's emphasis on flexibility and mobility within the education system.

### Expected Changes

- More Enrollment Opportunities: Two admission cycles per year provide more chances for students to secure a seat.
- Academic Calendar Adjustments: Universities will modify their schedules, including semester timings and examination dates.
- Administrative and Logistical Updates: Increased workload requires enhanced administrative capabilities, additional staff, and updated systems.
- Greater Diversity: Flexible admissions may lead to a more diverse student body, including international students and working professionals.
- Increased Competition: Universities may improve quality and infrastructure to attract the best students.
- Implementation Challenges: Initial challenges include aligning faculty schedules, maintaining course quality, and managing financial impacts.

DTI Program at KL University

The Design Thinking and Innovation (DTI) program at KL University is designed to foster creativity, innovation, and problem-solving skills among students. Here are the key highlights:

- **Interdisciplinary Approach:** The DTI program integrates principles from various disciplines, including engineering, business, and the arts, to provide a holistic understanding of design thinking.
- **Hands-on Learning:** Emphasizes practical experience through workshops, projects, and real-world problem-solving activities.
- **Industry Collaboration:** Strong partnerships with industry leaders ensure students work on relevant and current challenges, gaining insights from professionals.
- **Innovative Curriculum:** The curriculum includes courses on human-centered design, prototyping, user experience, and business model innovation.
- **State-of-the-Art Facilities:** Equipped with modern labs and tools to support creativity and experimentation.
- **Entrepreneurial Focus:** Encourages students to develop entrepreneurial skills, preparing them to launch startups or drive innovation within organizations.
- **Experienced Faculty:** Led by a team of experienced faculty members and industry experts who guide and mentor students throughout the program.

The DTI program at KL University aims to equip students with the skills and mindset necessary to tackle complex problems and create innovative solutions, making them valuable assets in the rapidly evolving job market.
