Objective:

The Swachhata Hi Seva (SHS) 2024 campaign is being conducted from September 17 to October 2 as part of India's efforts to promote cleanliness and societal welfare. In line with these values, this event focuses on supporting vulnerable sections of society, specifically senior citizens, by distributing essential groceries to old age homes. The aim is to contribute towards food security for the elderly and highlight the importance of community service in improving the quality of life for senior citizens.

Description:

The students of the KL College of Agriculture, under the NSS, will organize a grocery distribution program to provide essential items like rice, pulses, vegetables, and cooking oil to old age homes. They will collaborate with local authorities and organizations to ensure the efficient distribution of supplies. Students will also engage with the elderly, providing companionship and emotional support, while raising awareness of the challenges faced by aging communities. Mr. Shaik Sameer (NSS Officer) and Mrs. Sudeepthi (NSS Officer), along with Dr. B. V. Sagal Kiran and NSS Programme Coordinator Mr. P. Srikanth Reddy, NSS Coordinator Mr. P.Suresh, will oversee the event to ensure smooth coordination and delivery of the items.

Outcome:

This event will positively impact the lives of the elderly by improving their access to basic necessities, reducing food insecurity, and providing emotional support. The students will gain a better understanding of social issues and the importance of community involvement. This will help foster empathy and a sense of social responsibility among the students.

Impact on Society:

The groceries distribution program has a meaningful impact on society by addressing the needs of the elderly, a vulnerable and often overlooked demographic. By providing essential food items, this initiative helps reduce hunger and food insecurity among seniors, improving their quality of life and ensuring their nutritional needs are met.
