Objective:

First Aid training for school students aims to equip them with essential skills to recognize and respond to emergencies safely and confidently. Students learn to act calmly and responsibly in urgent situations through practical training in basic techniques like wound care, CPR, choking relief, and the recovery position. The training also fosters empathy, encouraging them to support.

Description:

Principal Dr. G. Chakravarty of the University College of Pharmacy, emphasized the importance of first-aid training sessions for school students, it covered the basics of first aid, including how to stop bleeding, treat burns, and perform CPR. The session was led by faculty and students from the pharmacy department. The camp is organized by the NSS department in Pedapalem, Guntur district.

Dr. KRS. Prasad, Dean of Student Affairs, and NSS Program Officer Dr. R. Supriya stressed the importance of first-aid training sessions. University Vice Chancellor Dr. G. Parthasaradhi Varma, Pro Vice-Chancellor Dr. AVS. Prasad, Dr. N. Venkatram, Advisor Dean Student Affairs Dr. Habibullah Khan, NSS Program Coordinator Mr. P. Srikanth Reddy, and others praised the efforts of the staff. Mr. P. Suresh was acknowledged for coordinating the camp.

Outcome:

First aid training empowers school students with life-saving skills. By learning how to respond to emergencies like bleeding, burns, and cardiac arrest, students gain confidence and preparedness. This knowledge fosters a sense of responsibility and community, potentially reducing injury severity and saving lives. Additionally, such training promotes a positive school climate and enhances overall safety awareness.

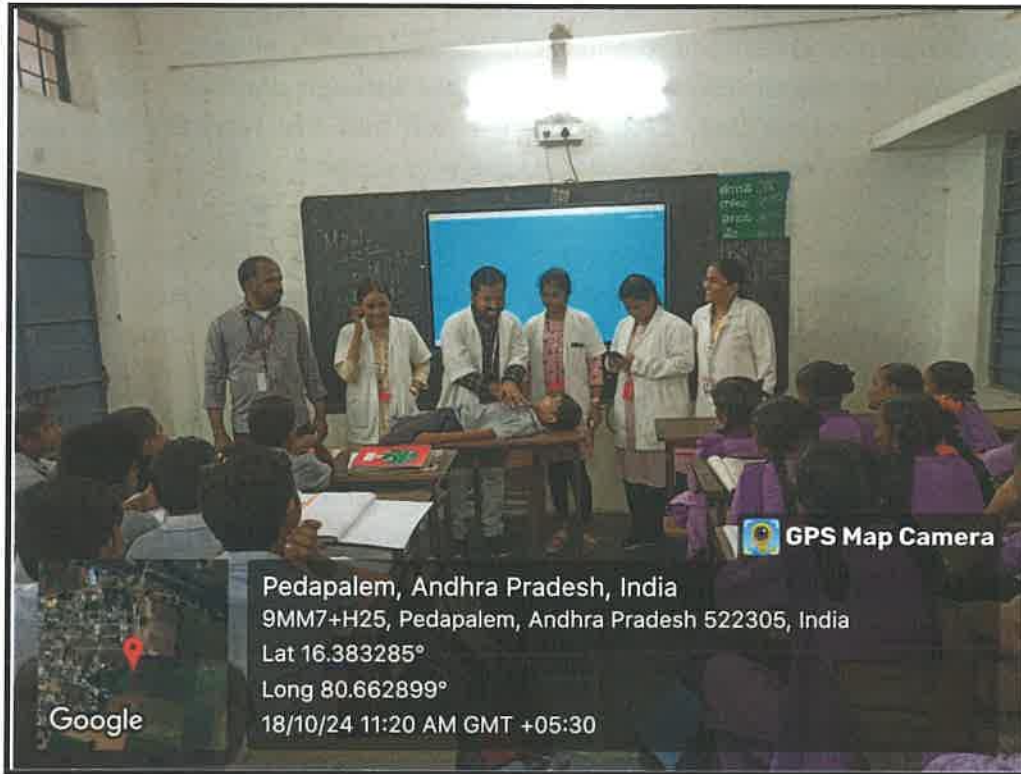

Impact on Society:

First aid training for school students has a far-reaching impact on society. By equipping young individuals with essential life-saving skills, it empowers them to respond effectively to emergencies, potentially saving lives and minimizing injuries. This knowledge and confidence can translate into responsible citizenship, fostering a culture of care and preparedness. Additionally, such training can reduce the burden on emergency services, allowing them to focus on more critical situations. Ultimately, investing in first aid education for young people contributes to a safer and more resilient community.
