1	Archana Watts Senior Scientist ICAR-IARI	AI in Agriculture and Modelling (Agricultural Physics) can be added	The academician suggested incorporating topics related to Artificial Intelligence (AI) in Agriculture and Agricultural Modelling within the curriculum. The recommendation highlights the increasing importance of digital technologies, data analytics, simulation modelling, and AI-driven decision support systems in modern agricultural education and research.	The DAC members reviewed the suggested to provide few certification courses regarding new technologies and also to implement the sixth dean's committee syllabus, as the syllabus consists several new technologies and AI related topics in each and every course
2	Dr. Pavitra K.N Scientist ICAR-IARI, Jharkhand	It is very recommended and also improvement is needed in skill, industry and job oriented certifications.	The stakeholder/academician emphasized the need to strengthen skill-based, industry-oriented, and job-focused certification programs to enhance students' employability and industry readiness. The feedback highlights the importance of providing additional opportunities for professional skill development alongside the regular curriculum.	The suggestion was reviewed by the department. Efforts will be made to organize and promote skill development programs, industry-oriented training, certification courses, workshops, and expert lectures in collaboration with industry professionals and relevant organizations. The department will also encourage students to enroll in recognized certification programs that align with current industry requirements.

1	Dr. M. Nagaraj Kumar Associate Professor	Basics about modern tools for disease detection and management to be included.	He suggested the inclusion of basic knowledge and practical exposure to modern tools and technologies used in disease detection and management. The feedback reflects the need to familiarize students with emerging technologies such as molecular diagnostics, remote sensing, AI-based disease detection, imaging techniques, and precision agriculture tools to improve their technical competencies and employability.	The DAC members reviewed the suggested to provide few certification courses regarding new technologies and also to implement the sixth dean's committee syllabus, as the syllabus consists several new technologies and AI related topics in each and every course
2	Dr. K Ranjit	Locally Available crops need to be prioritized.	Suggested that greater emphasis should be placed on locally available and regionally important crops to improve the practical relevance of the curriculum. The feedback indicates the need to align teaching, practicals, demonstrations, and field exposure with local agricultural conditions and cropping systems.	The department reviewed the suggestion and encouraged faculty to incorporate more examples, case studies, field visits, demonstrations, and practical exercises related to locally important crops.

Students may perceive a need for greater flexibility, more interdisciplinary learning opportunities, and enhanced practical/project-oriented components.	The feedback was discussed in the Department Academic Committee. The existing curriculum structure was reviewed, and students were informed that the course composition follows university regulations and accreditation requirements. Suggestions regarding increased elective choices, interdisciplinary courses, skill-based subjects, and practical/project-oriented learning will be considered during future curriculum revisions.	Students appreciated the clarification regarding the curriculum structure and welcomed the department's initiative to consider additional elective and skill-oriented courses. Improved satisfaction with the course composition was observed.

AGENDA and RESOLUTIONS

AGENDA ITEM-1

To discuss on the finalization of the Y26 course structure based on suggestions received from academic peers and other stakeholders.

Discussion & Resolution

The Chairperson presented the revised Y26 course structure before the DAC meeting for consideration. The members reviewed the suggestions received from academic peers and the feedback obtained from stakeholders, including industry experts, alumni and faculty. The committee resolved to recommend the revised course structure for implementation from the Y26 academic year, subject to the approval of the Board of Studies authorities.

AGENDA ITEM-2

To discuss the Inclusion of advanced topics in the Y26 B.Sc. (Hons.) Agriculture course syllabus to enhance students employability.

Discussion & Resolution

The members emphasized that the inclusion of these topics should strengthen industry readiness, practical skills, and employability while maintaining the academic rigor of the programme. It was also noted that the proposed additions would be incorporated without deviating from the ICAR Sixth Deans' Committee syllabus and credit framework.
