Date: 10th January 2024 (Wednesday)

Timings: 10.00 AM to 1.00 PM & 2.00 PM to 4.00 PM

Venue: ERLT Lab, 4th Floor, Library Block L 414.

Resource persons:

1. Dr.J.K.R. Sastry, Professor, Department of IoT, KLEF, Vaddeswaram
2. Dr. B. Nageswara Rao, Professor, Department of ME, KLEF, Vaddeswaram
3. Dr. Debanath Bhattacharya, Professor, Department of CSE, KLEF, Vaddeswaram

1. Dr.J.K.R. Sastry, Professor, Department of IoT, KLEF, Vaddeswaram

The Academic Staff College (ASC), KLEF has organized a one-day session on "Publishing in quality journals" for the chosen teaching faculty members from the university's numerous departments. The goal of the FDP was to explore the basic elements of research and the ensuing need for participants to reevaluate the assumptions that underpin conventional paradigms in management research. The most recent developments in research technique were discussed, along with methodological issues with research publications, publication ethics, the proper and improper use of statistics in research, and the availability of reading materials.

Dr. I. Govardhani, Principal, ASC giving introductory speech

The importance of research in academia and industry was discussed during the discussion. Writing a high-quality research paper requires a great deal of research knowledge and effort, as Dr. Sastry stressed. However, many academic faculty members and researchers are unable to produce high-caliber research papers due to a lack of necessary knowledge and skills. On the subject of "How to publish in high-impact journal: strategies & steps," he provided a thorough explanation.

Dr. J.K.R Sastry handling the session

The importance of having a detailed and well-organized research plan before beginning to write was emphasized at the beginning of the session. The importance of doing a thorough literature evaluation to ensure that the research is relevant to the field of study and advances the body of existing knowledge was also stressed during the session.

2. Dr. B. Nageswara Rao, Professor, Department of ME, KLEF, Vaddeswaram

Session-2 included understanding of the publication process. The importance of beginning the study process with a specific and well-defined research plan was outlined at the beginning of the session. It emphasized how crucial it is to choose the optimal study design and methods, as well as the research topics and target population.

The discussion then moved on to a number of research methodologies, including mixed, qualitative, and quantitative techniques. Each methodology was thoroughly described, with an emphasis on its benefits and drawbacks as well as the circumstances in which it is most effective. Dr. Nageswara Rao also stressed on the importance of ethical considerations in research, such as participant protection, informed consent, and confidentiality.

Dr.B. Nageswara Rao addressing the participants

3. Dr. Debanath Bhattacharya, Professor, Department of CSE, KLEF, Vaddeswaram

Dr. Bhattacharya underlined that one should begin writing a research paper only after having completed adequate reading or learning enough about the subject matter. Since writers frequently struggle with procrastination, it's critical to establish and adhere to deadlines or goals for when they want to start writing. The necessary data should have been collected, analyzed, and synthesized. This guarantees a thorough comprehension of the study subject and enables the results to be communicated clearly. Writing a research paper is mostly done to add fresh information to the topic of study. Think about the significance, uniqueness, and potential influence of the research findings on the academic community.
