The Academic Staff College (ASC), KLEF in association with Department of Design Thinking and Innovation (DTI) has organized a 5-day workshop on “Design Thinking and Innovation” for the newly joined faculty of KLEF.

The Design Thinking and Innovation (DTI) Department at KL University, Vijayawada, India, is a dedicated entity aimed at fostering a culture of innovation and entrepreneurship among its students and faculty. The department is driven by the vision of nurturing world-class entrepreneurs who can make a positive impact on society and the world.

To achieve its mission, the DTI department has developed a comprehensive action plan that includes offering a Fundamental Course of Design Thinking and Innovation (DTI) to all students. This course is designed to teach students structured methods to approach problems, apply design thinking, and innovative problem-solving techniques.

The department has identified maker spaces within the university to provide students with the necessary resources and infrastructure to turn their ideas into successful venture. The DTI department also provides academic flexibility through an innovation pathway that helps students turn their ideas into reality. In order to give faculty complete insight about design thinking and innovation, instructional design in order to teach the students, workshops are conducted on regular basis.

The primary aim of the workshop was to inspire faculty by integrating Design Thinking with Critical Thinking, fostering innovation aimed at providing solutions centred around customer needs. Additionally, the workshop aimed to educate faculty on leveraging critical thinking to tackle challenges and address real-world problems effectively.

Day-1: Introduction to Design Thinking

Participants were introduced to the fundamental principles and stages of the design thinking process, including empathize, define, ideate, prototype, and test.

Day-2: Hands-on Exercises

Participants engaged in various design thinking exercises, such as empathy mapping, brainstorming, prototyping, and user testing, to gain practical experience and deepen their understanding of the methodology.

Day-3: Case Studies

Real-world case studies were presented to illustrate how design thinking has been successfully applied to solve complex problems in different domains, such as product design, service delivery, and social innovation.

Photo Gallery:

Day-4: Group Projects

Participants worked in teams to tackle a design challenge using the design thinking approach. They applied the concepts learned during the workshop to identify user needs, generate innovative solutions, and prototype their ideas.

Day-5: Reflection and Discussion & Assessment

At the end of each day, participants reflected on their learning experiences and engaged in discussions to share insights, challenges, and best practices.

Conclusion:

The Workshop on Design Thinking and Innovation provided participants with valuable insights, practical skills, and inspiration to become more effective problem solvers and innovators. By embracing the principles of design thinking, participants are better equipped to address complex challenges and create meaningful impact in their organization and community.
