The Academic Staff College of KLEF, in collaboration with the Value Education Cell, conducted a five-day Faculty Development Program on "Human Values, Gender Equality & Professional Ethics" from 23rd to 27th July 2024. This FDP was specifically designed for the designated faculty members of KLEF to enhance their understanding of fundamental human values, gender equality, and professional ethics, and to encourage the integration of these values into their teaching and professional conduct.

Objectives:

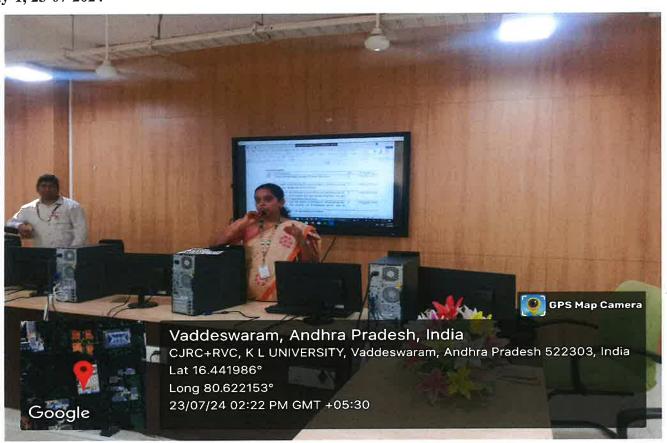

The primary objectives of the FDP were:

- To inculcate core human values: Helping faculty members understand and internalize the principles of human values, which are essential for personal and professional growth.
- To promote gender equality: Raising awareness about gender issues, ensuring that faculty members are equipped to foster an environment of inclusivity and equality within the academic community.
- To reinforce professional ethics: Providing a comprehensive understanding of professional ethics and their critical role in academia, thereby ensuring that faculty members adhere to high ethical standards in their professional conduct.
- To create a framework for ethical decision-making: Enabling faculty to apply ethical principles effectively in various academic and administrative scenarios.

Day-1, 23-07-2024

Principal, Academic Staff College, Dr. I. Govardhani giving welcome address

Dr.B. Pavan Kumar addressing the participants

Session 1: Introduction to Human Values: Importance and Application

Date: 23rd July 2024

Resource Person: Dr. B. Pavan Kumar

Dr. B. Pavan Kumar commenced the FDP by introducing the concept of human values. He emphasized the importance of these values in shaping an individual's character and guiding ethical behavior. The session covered various dimensions of human values, including respect, responsibility, fairness, and compassion. Dr. Pavan Kumar discussed how these values are crucial in both personal life and professional environments, particularly in the academic field. The session included interactive discussions on how to apply these values in daily interactions with students, colleagues, and the broader community.

Day -2.24-07-2024

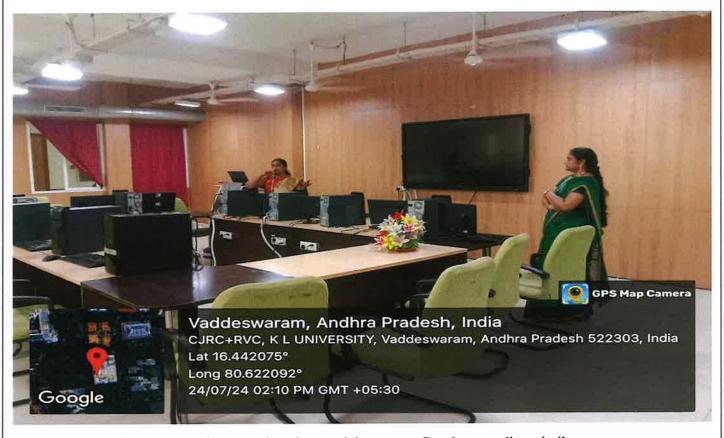

Session 2: Gender Equality: Concepts, Challenges & Sensitivity

Date: 24th July 2024

Resource Person: Mrs. Sankari S

In this session, Dr. Salomi M addressed the critical issue of gender equality. She provided an overview of gender-related concepts, emphasizing the importance of recognizing and challenging gender biases in academic settings. Dr. Salomi discussed the challenges faced by individuals due to gender inequality, such as discrimination and stereotyping. The session also covered legal frameworks and institutional policies that support gender equality. Dr. Salomi encouraged faculty members to foster an inclusive environment where gender sensitivity is a norm, and equal opportunities are provided to all, regardless of gender.

Day -3,25-07-2024

Session 3: Professional Ethics: Ethical Practices in Academia

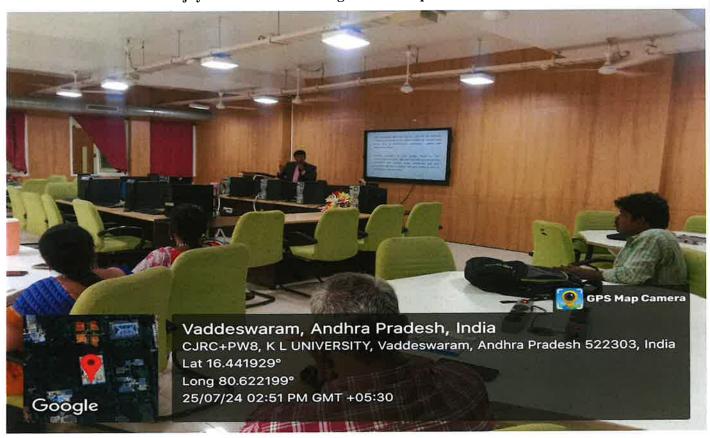

Date: 25th July 2024

Resource Person: Mr. A. Vijaya Ratnam

Mr. A. Vijaya Ratnam focused on the importance of professional ethics in the academic environment. He outlined the ethical responsibilities of educators, including integrity, accountability, and fairness. The session highlighted the significance of ethical decision-making in situations such as grading, research, and interactions with students and colleagues. Mr. Vijaya Ratnam provided case studies that illustrated common ethical dilemmas faced by faculty members and discussed best practices for resolving them in an ethical manner. He also emphasized the role of ethical leadership in setting the tone for an institution's culture.

Day-4, 26-07-2024

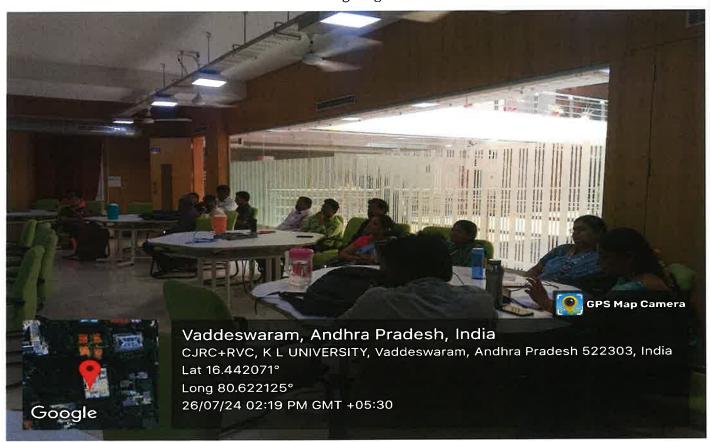

Date: 26th July 2024

Resource Person: Dr. Salomi M

This session, led by Dr.Salomi, focused on the integration of human values with professional ethics. She discussed how values such as honesty, empathy, and respect can enhance ethical behavior in professional settings. Dr.Salomi highlighted the interconnectedness of values and ethics, arguing that strong ethical practices are grounded in deeply held values. The session included exercises that helped participants identify their core values and understand how these values influence their professional conduct. She also provided examples of how to incorporate these principles into teaching, administration, and leadership roles within the institution.

Dr. Salomi addressing on gender sensitization

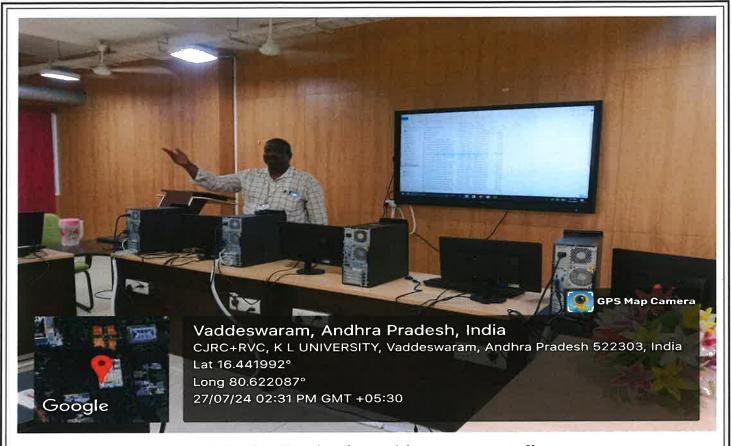

Day -5, 27-07-2024

Session 5: Case Studies & Discussions: Real-world Applications

Date: 27th July 2024

Resource Person: Mr. S. Srinath

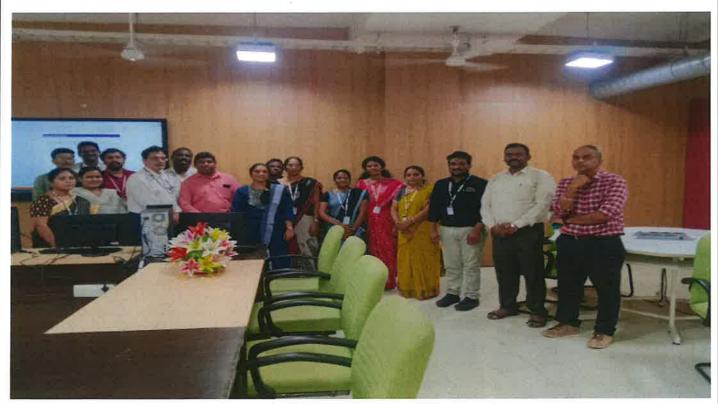

The final session, conducted by Mr. S. Srinath, was dedicated to applying the concepts learned throughout the FDP to real-world scenarios. Mr. Srinath presented several case studies that depicted ethical dilemmas and challenges related to human values and gender equality in academic settings. Participants engaged in group discussions to analyze these cases, identify the underlying issues, and propose solutions based on the principles of human values, gender equality, and professional ethics. This interactive session allowed faculty members to practice ethical decision-making in a supportive environment and gain confidence in addressing such issues in their professional lives.
