Report on “Awareness program on Early Detection of Student Psychological Challenges” for Newly Joined faculty members of KLEF Vaddeswaram Campus.

Date: 14-12-2024 (Saturday)

Time: 2.00 PM to 5.00 PM

Venue: ERTL Lab (L414), L-Block

Resource Persons:

1. Dr. Pavan Kumar Bada, Asst. Prof. Value Education Cell, KLEF.
2. Dr. Molathoti Salomi, Asst. Prof, Value Education Cell, KLEF.
3. Mrs. Sankari S, Asst. Professor, Value Education Cell, KLEF.

Introduction: An essential aspect of fostering a supportive and conducive academic environment is ensuring that students' psychological well-being is prioritized.

Recognizing the growing concerns around mental health, KLEF Vaddeswaram Campus conducted an "Awareness Program on Early Detection of Student Psychological Challenges" for newly joined faculty members. The objective was to equip faculty with the necessary knowledge, skills, and tools to identify early signs of psychological issues in students and offer appropriate support.

Dr. Pavan Kumar Bada, Asst. Prof. Value Education Cell, KLEF.

This highlights the significance of mental health awareness within the academic environment and underscores the importance of faculty involvement in promoting student well-being.

Program Objectives:

- To raise awareness about common psychological challenges faced by students.
- To educate faculty members on how to identify early signs of mental health struggles.
- To provide strategies for creating a supportive and empathetic classroom environment.
- To familiarize faculty with resources available for students facing psychological challenges.
- To encourage timely intervention and collaboration between faculty, counselors, and other support systems on campus.

Program Content:

1. Introduction to Student Psychological Challenges:

- Overview of common mental health issues in students, including anxiety, depression, stress, and burnout.
- Discussion on how academic pressures, personal issues, and socio-cultural factors can affect students' mental well-being.

2. Early Warning Signs of Psychological Struggles:

- Identifying physical, emotional, and behavioral indicators of distress in students.
- Recognizing changes in academic performance, social behavior, and overall engagement.

3. Building Empathy and Effective Communication:

- Strategies for fostering an empathetic and open communication channel with students.
- Techniques for actively listening and offering support in a non-judgmental manner.

4. Intervention and Referral Mechanisms:

- Guidelines on how faculty members can intervene when they notice signs of psychological difficulties in students.
- Providing information about campus counseling services and other mental health resources.

5. Creating a Supportive Learning Environment:

- Approaches to make the classroom environment more inclusive and conducive to student mental well-being.
- Promoting activities that can reduce stress and enhance positive mental health.

Methodology: The program was delivered through a combination of presentations, interactive sessions, case studies, and role-playing exercises. This allowed faculty members to engage actively and practice the skills being taught. Experienced mental health professionals from the counseling department were invited as guest speakers to provide expert insights and real-life examples.

Outcome and Impact:

- Increased Awareness: The newly joined faculty members gained a deeper understanding of student mental health issues and the early signs of psychological distress.
- Enhanced Skills: Faculty learned practical strategies for handling sensitive conversations and supporting students in need.
- Resource Familiarity: Participants became familiar with the resources available on campus, ensuring that they can guide students effectively to seek help.

Improved Student-Teacher Relationship: Faculty members expressed an increased willingness to build stronger, more empathetic relationships with students, promoting mental well-being.

Group photo.

Conclusion: The "Awareness Program on Early Detection of Student Psychological Challenges" was successful in raising awareness among newly joined faculty members at KLEF Vaddeswaram Campus. By equipping educators with the knowledge and skills to detect early signs of psychological challenges in students, the program aims to create a more supportive academic environment where students feel heard, understood, and encouraged to seek help. Moving forward, it is recommended that similar programs be held regularly for both new and existing faculty to reinforce these crucial skills and contribute to the mental health and well-being of students.

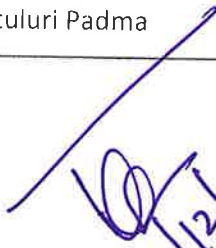

The One day' Faculty Development Program ended with closing remarks by Ch. Manjusha Academic Staff College. 40 faculty from various Departments have attended the Program with interest.
