Report on “Awareness program on Early Detection of Student Psychological Challenges”

Date: 31-08-2024 (Saturday)

Time: 2.00 PM to 5.00 PM

Venue: Seminar Hall, L515, Library Building.

Resource Persons:

1. Dr. Molathoti Salomi, Asst. Professor, Value Education Cell, KLEF, Vijayawada.
2. Dr. Sankari, Asst. Professor, Value Education Cell, KLEF, Vijayawada.

In the modern society, the majority of young people, particularly students, struggle with behavioral or mental health issues. The three facts of mental health include psychological, social, and emotional well-being. Being aware of psychosocial wellbeing is essential to spotting mental health problems in students early on. In this context, Academic Staff College, KLEF, has conducted an awareness campaign on "Early Detection of Student Psychological Challenges" on 31-08-2024 for the newly joined faculty of various departments.

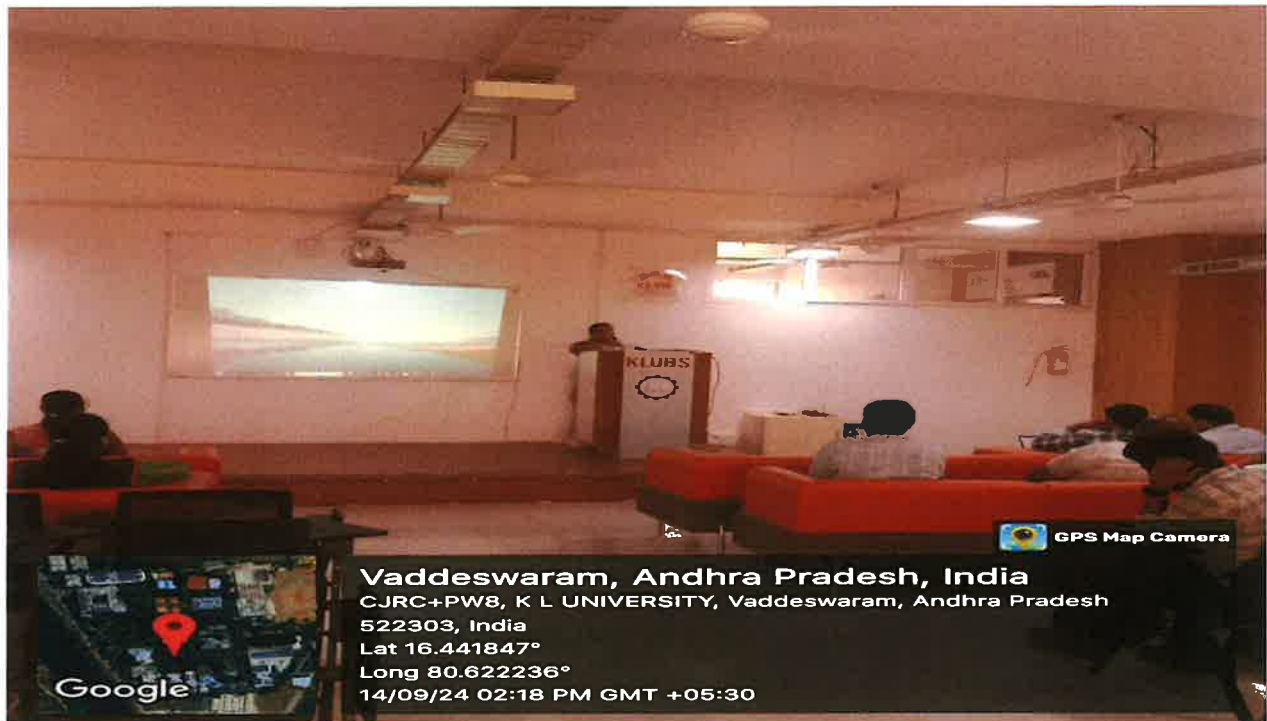

The program commenced at 2.00 P.M to 5.P.M with the opening remarks by Dr. Govardhani Principal of Academic Staff College. She said that attending such sessions would be of great importance to the faculty as they deal with a lot of students every day. Identifying psychological challenges of the students as a teacher as well as a mentor and counseling them in a proper manner would really help the students come out of their anxieties.

The resource person, Dr. MolathotiSalomi, Asst. Professor, Value Education Cell, KLEF said that KLEF has a separate wing for conducting psychological counseling to students in order to help them come out of the challenges they face. The Value Education Cell (VEC), works with the following objectives:

- Educate students about common mental health challenges.
- Understanding Common Psychological Issues
- Referring to Support Services
- Train teachers to recognize signs of psychological distress in students.

Resource person introduction by Dr. Govardhani. Principal of ASC.

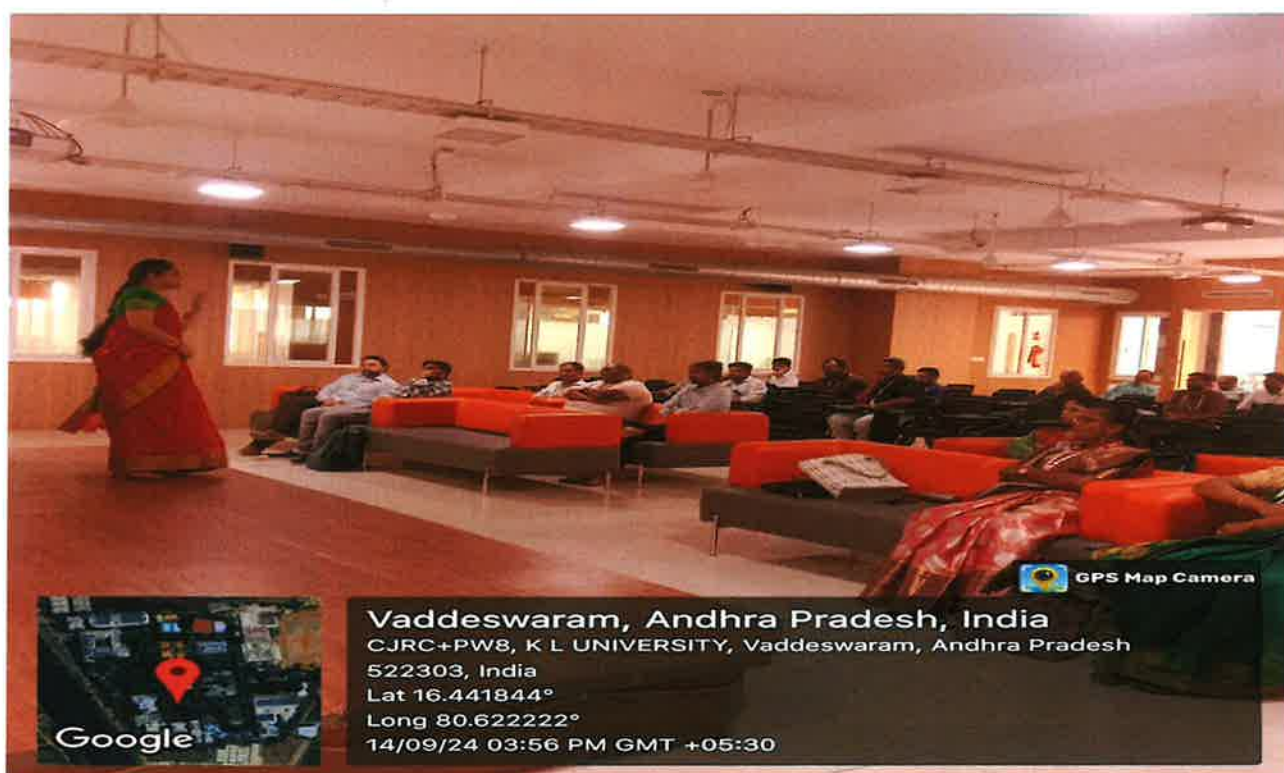

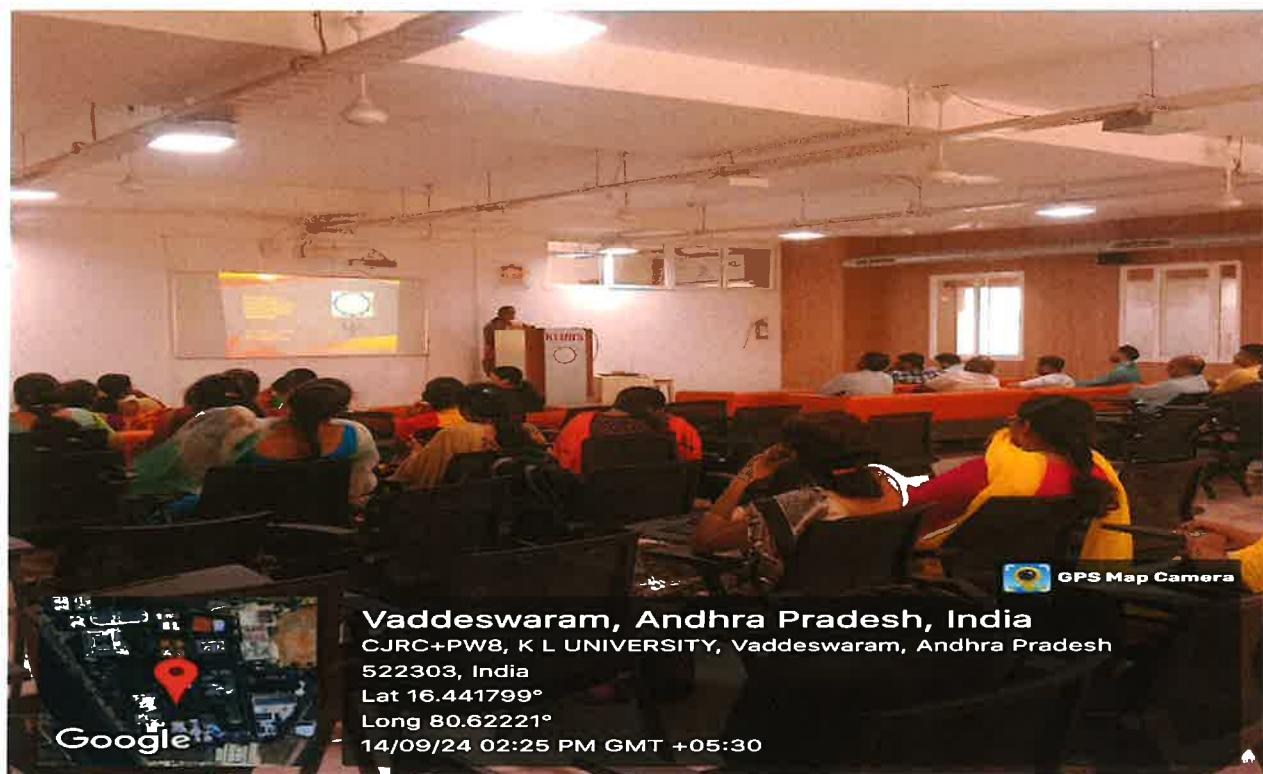

Dr. Molathoti Salomi, Asst. Professor, Value Education Cell, addressing the participants on student psychological issues.

Dr. Molathoti Salomi, Asst. Professor, also continued saying the following are important for the early detection of student psychological challenges.

- 1. Social-Emotional Learning (SEL): Incorporating SEL into the curriculum promotes self-awareness, emotional regulation, and interpersonal skills.
- 2. Promoting Mental Health Awareness: Educating the entire school community about mental health can reduce stigma and encourage students to seek help.
- 3. Open Communication: Creating an environment where students feel safe to express their feelings and concerns is vital.
- 4. Continued Education: Regular workshops and training sessions should be conducted to ensure that knowledge about mental health remains current and relevant.

She also addressed the faculty on student well-being, identifying suicidal tendency among students, over thinking, Insecurity, Impact of Low Self-Esteem on Students, coping with pressure, learning disabilities, behavioral issues, periodic counseling, emotional intelligence, self-awareness and seeking help, Problematic Behavior's.

Dr. Sankisasankari, Asst. Professor, Value Education Cell, KLEF. addressing the participants on student psychological issues.

Mrs. Saankari, Asst. Professor, also continued saying the following are important for the early detection of psychological challenges.

She also addressed the faculty on student well-being, identifying suicidal tendency among students, Physical, Behavioral, Anxiety, depression, restlessness, irritability, lack of motivation, Concentration, Decision-making Abilities.

Stress is the body's natural response to a perceived threat or demand, causing physical, mental, and emotional strain.

Program Objectives:

1. Signs and Symptoms of Stress
2. Increase awareness among students and parents about common psychological challenges.
3. Equip participants with skills to recognize early signs of mental health issues.
4. Promote a supportive collage environment that encourages open communication about mental stress and health.

60 newly joined faculty members from various departments have attended the program with lot of enthusiasm.
