- 5.Dr.R. Shankar, Asst. Professor, Dept. of MD&IE

A Five-Day Faculty Development Program (FDP) on “Design Thinking & Innovation” was organized by the Academic Staff College, KLEF in association with the department of Multi-disciplinary Innovation and Entrepreneurship (MD&IE) for the newly joined faculty members of KLEF, Vaddeswaram Campus, from 28-08-2025 to 02-09-2025. The programme was designed to introduce participants to modern, innovation-driven teaching methodologies and to cultivate a design thinking mindset essential for addressing real-world challenges in education and research. The sessions were conducted by experienced resource persons including Dr. K. Narasimha Raju, Dr. K. Sireesha, Dr. G. Suresh Kumar, Dr. N. Ratna Kanth, Dr. Ashwin Raut, and Dr. R. Shankar, from department of MD&IE who provided valuable insights through interactive and activity-based learning approaches.

Objectives

The primary objective of the FDP was to equip newly joined faculty members with the knowledge and skills required to adopt design thinking principles in their teaching and professional practices. The programme aimed to foster creativity, critical thinking, and problem-solving abilities among faculty, while also encouraging a student-centric and experiential learning environment. Additionally, it focused on enabling participants to integrate innovation strategies into curriculum design, promote interdisciplinary collaboration, and enhance overall teaching effectiveness.

Day-wise Report

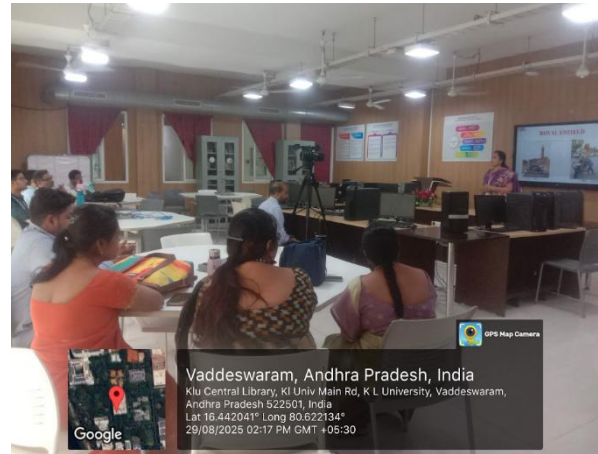

Day 1 (28-08-2025)

The first day, led by Dr. K. Narasimha Raju and Dr. K. Sireesha, introduced the fundamental concepts of design thinking and its significance in higher education. The sessions focused on developing an empathetic approach by understanding user needs and perspectives, particularly in the context of students. Participants were engaged in activities such as empathy mapping and problem identification, laying a strong foundation for the subsequent sessions.

Day 2 (29-08-2025)

On the second day, Dr. G. Suresh Kumar and Dr. K. Sireesha emphasized problem definition and ideation techniques. Faculty members were introduced to structured brainstorming methods and creative thinking tools to generate innovative solutions. Interactive group activities encouraged collaboration and helped participants refine their problem statements and explore multiple solution pathways.

Day 3 (30-08-2025)

The third day continued with Dr. G. Suresh Kumar and Dr. N. Ratna Kanth focusing on prototyping and testing.

Participants were guided on how to convert ideas into tangible models and test them through iterative processes. The sessions highlighted the importance of feedback, adaptability, and continuous improvement in innovation.

Day 4 (01-09-2025)

Dr. R. Shankar led the fourth day sessions, which concentrated on applying design thinking in academic settings. He discussed how innovative teaching practices and experiential learning strategies can be integrated into curriculum design. Real-world case studies were presented to demonstrate the practical implementation of design thinking across disciplines.

Day 5 (02-09-2025)

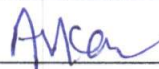

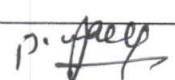

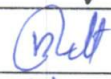

The final day, handled by Dr. Ratna Kanth, focused on fostering an innovation-driven culture within the institution. The sessions emphasized interdisciplinary collaboration, research integration, and long-term adoption of design thinking methodologies. The programme concluded with reflections, discussions, and feedback from participants, along with an assessment test marking the successful completion of an enriching and impactful FDP.
