WORKSHOP ON GARDENING

Date : 20/09/2022
Time : 10.30 A. M to 1:00 Noon
Venue : Peacock Hall & OAT Premises , KLEF

OBJECTIVES

The primary objectives of organizing a workshop on gardening for women and girls are to promote environmental stewardship, foster self-sufficiency, and empower participants with practical gardening skills. This workshop aims to educate attendees about the importance of sustainable gardening practices, including organic gardening and urban farming, while highlighting the benefits of gardening for both personal and community well-being. It seeks to inspire a love for nature, instill a sense of environmental responsibility, and equip women and girls with the knowledge to grow their own food, create green spaces, and contribute to local food security. Additionally, the workshop aims to empower participants by building their confidence in gardening, encouraging a deeper connection with the environment, and promoting a healthier and more sustainable lifestyle.

DESCRIPTION

KLEF Women Development Cell/ Women's Forum organized a workshop on gardening . Ms. Sudeepthi, Assistant Professor, Agriculture is the resource person. Throughout the program, participants were engaged in hands-on gardening activities, from planting seeds and nurturing plants to creating beautiful green spaces. The workshop not only equipped them with practical gardening skills but also instilled a profound sense of environmental awareness and responsibility. Participants left with a deeper connection to nature, a heightened understanding of sustainable gardening practices, and the confidence to grow their own food and contribute to local food security. Moreover, the workshop fostered a strong sense of community among women and girls, as they worked together, shared knowledge, and built lasting friendships. It was evident that the workshop had not only empowered the participants with valuable skills but had also ignited a passion for gardening and environmental stewardship, encouraging them to continue their green journey and inspire others in their communities to do the same. In conclusion, the workshop successfully promoted self-sufficiency, environmental consciousness, and community building among women and girls, making it a valuable and transformative experience for all involved.

OUTCOMES

The primary objectives of organizing a workshop on gardening for women and girls are to promote environmental consciousness, self-sufficiency, and empowerment. This workshop seeks to educate participants about sustainable gardening practices, encouraging organic and urban gardening techniques that foster a deeper connection to nature. By doing so, it aims to inspire a sense of environmental responsibility and a commitment to green living. Additionally, the workshop intends to empower women and girls by equipping them with valuable gardening skills, enabling them to cultivate their own food, beautify their surroundings, and contribute to local food security. Through hands-on experience and knowledge sharing, it fosters self-confidence, self-reliance, and a holistic approach to well-being, ultimately encouraging a more sustainable and environmentally aware lifestyle.
