OBJECTIVE

The objective of this awareness program is to educate and sensitize students and staff on gender issues, address the social problem of human trafficking, and build confidence among participants. This initiative aims to foster a safe, supportive environment on campus by raising awareness of critical issues and empowering individuals to contribute to gender equity and social justice.

DESCRIPTION

This in-house awareness program, organized by the Women Development Cell (WDC) at KLEF, will be held on 20th October 2023 under the coordination of Dr. Mahamuda Shaik. The program will cover three main topics: gender issues, human trafficking problems, and confidence-building. Interactive sessions will provide insights into gender sensitivity and equality, highlight the severity of human trafficking, and offer strategies to build self-confidence. With a combination of expert talks, real-life case studies, and open discussions, this event aims to equip 175 student participants and 5 faculty members with knowledge, tools, and awareness to advocate for gender equity and safety on campus and beyond.

OUTCOMES

1. Increased Gender Awareness: Participants will gain a deeper understanding of gender issues, recognize unconscious biases, and learn about their roles in promoting gender sensitivity in everyday interactions.
2. Awareness on Human Trafficking: Attendees will become informed about the dangers and signs of human trafficking, equipping them with knowledge to identify and potentially help prevent trafficking incidents in their communities.
3. Enhanced Confidence: The program will instill confidence in participants, empowering them to stand up against social injustices, advocate for themselves and others, and contribute positively to campus culture.
4. Strengthened Community Support: By fostering an open dialogue on sensitive topics, the program will encourage solidarity and mutual support among students and faculty, creating a more inclusive and supportive campus environment.

5. Skill Development: Through practical discussions and activities, participants will develop essential skills in communication, assertiveness, and empathy, which are vital for their personal growth and social responsibility.
