Guest lecture & BLS Training Program

Details of the Program:

YRC_KLEF, in association with Aster Ramesh Hospitals, Vijayawada, organized a Guest Lecture and Basic Life Support (BLS) Training Programme on 2 September 2026 at Peacock Hall, C Block, KLEF. The programme aimed to create awareness about emergency medical responses and equip faculty, staff, and students with essential first-aid knowledge and life-saving skills.

The programme featured three informative sessions delivered by experienced medical professionals from Aster Ramesh Hospitals. Dr. A. Sandeep, Consultant Orthopaedician, delivered a session on "First Aid After Fractures and Abrasions," highlighting the appropriate management of common injuries and the importance of timely medical intervention. Dr. Soumya Devi, Consultant General Physician, addressed "First Aid for Emergencies," emphasizing immediate response measures during medical emergencies. Dr. J. Karthikeya, Consultant Critical Care Medicine, conducted a session on "Basic Life Support (BLS) Training Programme," explaining essential life-saving techniques and the importance of prompt action during critical situations.

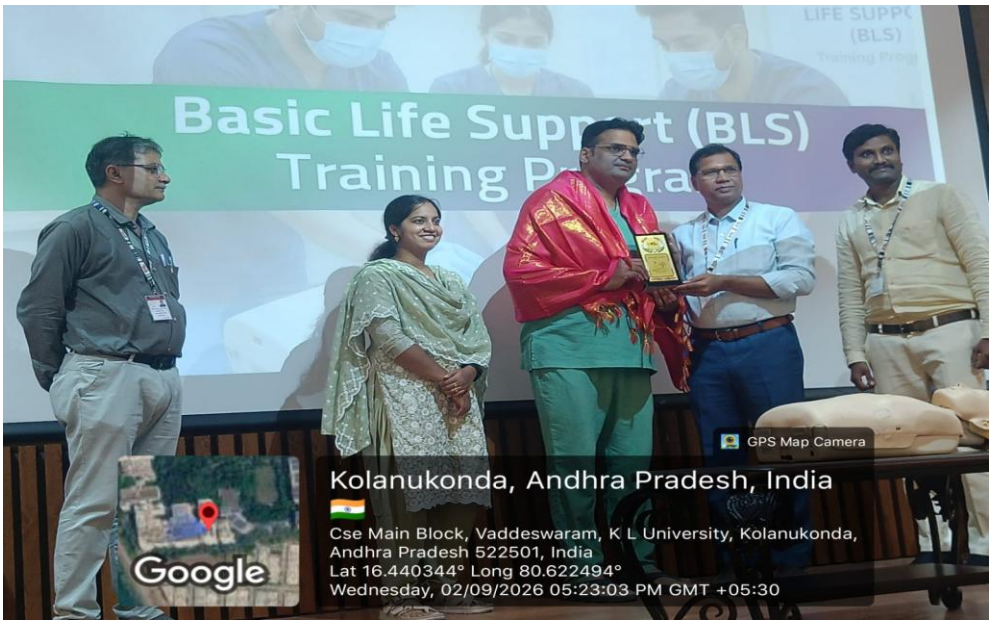

The programme provided participants with valuable insights into first aid, emergency management, and basic life support. The interactive sessions enhanced their understanding of responding effectively to medical emergencies and encouraged them to develop practical skills that can help save lives. The initiative reflected YRC_KLEF's commitment to promoting health awareness, emergency preparedness, and community well-being.
