REGISTRAR

Objective:

Blood donation is a crucial humanitarian activity that helps save lives by maintaining an adequate supply of blood for medical emergencies and treatments. It plays a significant role in surgeries, cancer treatment, trauma care, and the management of various blood-related disorders. A single blood donation can support several patients because the collected blood can be separated into red blood cells, platelets, and plasma according to individual medical needs. In addition to its medical benefits, blood donation fosters kindness, social responsibility, and a sense of community by motivating people to support those in need. Thus, voluntary blood donation contributes to public health and ensures timely, life-saving assistance for patients requiring blood transfusions

Procedure of the Event

1. The Blood Donation Camp was organized by Youth Red Cross, KLEF, on 6th October 2026, from 9:30 AM to 4:30 PM at the SAC Hall, R&D Block, KLEF.
2. The programme was conducted in association with VKR Rotary Club, Vijayawada, and the Indian Red Cross Society, Guntur, with the support of the Vijaya Sri Blood Bank team.
3. The event aimed to create awareness among students and staff about the importance of voluntary blood donation and its role in saving lives.
4. The camp was coordinated by Dr. R. Supriya, Assistant Professor, College of Pharmacy and YRC Professor-in-Charge, and Mr. G. Mohana Rao, YRC Program Officer and Assistant Professor, CSE-4 Department.
5. Students and staff were encouraged to participate in the blood donation camp to promote social responsibility, humanitarian values, and community health

Outcome of the event:

Blood donation offers significant benefits to both recipients and donors. For patients, donated blood can be life-saving in emergencies, surgeries, cancer treatment, and the management of conditions such as anaemia and other blood disorders. A single donation can potentially help up to three patients because blood can be separated into red blood cells, plasma, and platelets. Regular blood donation also plays an important role in supporting healthcare services by maintaining an adequate blood supply for patients in need.

For donors, blood donation provides an opportunity to contribute to society and experience the satisfaction of helping others. Before donation, donors undergo a basic health screening, which can provide useful information about certain health parameters. However, blood donation should not be considered a proven method of preventing cardiovascular disease or improving overall health.
